Russia Seizes Austrian Plants In Sudden Coup

VIENNA (AP) — The Soviet command in Austria, in a sudden unilateral move, today announced $22,000,000 worth of industrial property in eastern Austria had passed into Soviet ownership along with all other "German external assets" in the Soviet zone.

Chancellor Leopold Figl called his cabinet into a special meeting and Gen. Mark Clark, commander of United States forces in Austria, immediately moved into action with messages to both the Austrian government and the Soviet authorities.

The Russians for several months have been taking over control of properties in eastern Austria, which they classified as German assets subject to seizure for reparations under the Potsdam agreement.

The order published today and signed by Col.-Gen. Kurrasov as "Commander-in-Chief of Soviet occupation troops in Austria" apparently was intended to legalize all these previous seizures and pave the way for complete confiscation of properties which they claim under their interpretation of Potsdam.

The United States has disputed this interpretation in the Allied Council, asserting property taken forcibly by the Germans after the 1938 annexation of Austria could not be classified as German.

The Russians have refused to discuss the question in the Council.

75 PER CENT TOTAL

The industrial properties which the Russian claim include 64 plants with annual production valued at $33,000,000, and represent about 75 per cent of Austria's industrial capacity. Their loss, officials said, would be a blow to the struggling Austrian government, which only a week ago was given a new control agreement granting extensive new powers.

Gen. Kurrasov's order provided that the transfer of ownership was to be completed in 10 days. The 10 days after the date of the order expired today.

The order said that German properties in eastern Austria which belonged to the German Reich, German firms, corporations, organizations and in fact to all physical or judicial persons, have been transferred to ownership of the Soviet republic as German reparations.

The industrial properties seized include a large proportion of the chemical industry, most of the electrical industry, all of the artificial silk, paper and glass factories, and all railroad signal equipment production.

Clue To Lost Plane

OTTAWA (CP)—The mystery of the missing Gloster Meteor jet fighter piloted by Flt. Lt. W. H. McKenzie of St. Vital, Man., likely will be solved in a 10-mile square section of lake-studded forest north of Espanola, Ont., air force headquarters said today. Reports from fire towers and rangers indicate the plane probably came down in that area.

Spectacular Rise In Cost Of Some U.S. Commodities

NEW YORK (AP) — A sharp and sometimes spectacular upsweep in a number of basic commodity prices stood out today as a salient feature of the first week without United States price control since early 1942.

A survey of what actually has happened since price controls lapsed at midnight last Sunday showed retail prices in many lines held fairly steady — meat, butter and milk being frequent exceptions. These developments spotlighted the wholesale commodity markets:

Flour at Minneapolis jumped from $3.34 to $4.80 for each 100 pounds.

Cattle at Chicago soared from a standing start of $18 a hundredweight to an all-time record high of $22.50 before sliding back to $22.25 under a flood of receipts.

Hog prices at Chicago broke all records since 1919 by advancing from $14.85 a hundredweight a week ago to $18.50. At the closing Friday prices were back to $16 as hog receipts leaped from 2,500 one Friday to 30,000 the next.

WHEAT AT PEAK

Cash wheat in Chicago stood at $1.97 and $2.18 a bushel on these same days, with the latter price a peak since November, 1920.

Corn jumped from $1.44 to $2.25 a bushel and oats from 89 cents to $1.04.

Butter in the Chicago wholesale market rose to 70.75 cents a pound from 56 cents under the O.P.A.

During this week of considerable confusion for businessmen generally, a spot check on retail prices in big and little communities in the east and west, north and south produced a mixed pattern.

In Chicago, for example, the consumer prices on meat, milk, butter, bread, restaurant meals, clothing and rent held fairly steady.

A number of other cities reported similarly.

But in many others the prices in one or more of these categories were up sharply, with meat generally in the forefront, sometimes by more than 50 per cent, and boosts in milk and rents requently reported.

Adjustment Means Huge Saving To B.C.

Returning the Canadian dollar to parity with the U.S. dollar will mean a saving of several thousand dollars to the British Columbia government.

Annual saving on interest payment for loans made on Wall Street will probably be in the neighborhood of $300,000.

On a $3,000,000 2½ per cent loan due in 1947 on Wall Street the provincial government will save $300,000, while a saving of $390,000 will be made on another short-term loan of $3,900,000 due shortly.

Governor-General Greeted In Winnipeg

Showing a keen interest in their first sight of western Canada, Viscount and Lady Alexander are pictured above before the Canadian Pacific station at Winnipeg upon their arrival Thursday. The Governor-General and his wife, who are making a two-month trip through the west, were met at the station by a large, cheering throng. Today they arrived in Regina and were given another hearty welcome. They will reach Victoria at 4.15 on July 17.

No Letup In Exchange Control Board Rulings Because Dollars Set At Par

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Ilsley's stabilization program in bringing the Canadian dollar to par with the United States dollar in Canada for the first time since before the war, leaves unchanged Foreign Exchange Control Board restrictions on the amount of U.S. funds a Canadian can buy here for a trip to the United States.

Unchanged, too, are wartime regulations which prevent American investors from withdrawing any capital from Canada without permission from the board. However, U.S. investors are paid interest and dividends in American funds as they come due.

EARLY WAR EXPERIENCE

When Canada entered the war in September, 1939, the value of the Canadian dollar was fixed from day to day in the money market in New York and to a considerable extent was dependent on supply and demand. The Canadian dollar at once began to fluctuate and on Sept. 10 the Foreign Exchange Control Board was set up.

The Canadian government fixed the Canadian dollar at a 10 per cent discount under the U.S. dollar and it was the job of the Control Board to hold this valuation.

The board ruled all U.S. funds coming into Canada as payment for Canadian exporters to U.S. must be turned over to the board. It paid the Canadian exporter 10 per cent premium for the American funds in Canadian dollars. On the other hand, any Canadian needing U.S. funds bought them from the board at a premium of 11 per cent. Last fall the spread was narrowed by lowering the selling price to 10½ per cent premium.

The chartered banks of Canada became the agents of the board and the buying and selling was done through their offices although the exchange funds were the possession of the board.

The board provided exchange to meet the needs of the importers and the interest payments and dividends on U.S. investments in this country. It also provided American funds to persons needing to travel in the U.S., but until recently the restrictions were severe.

Experts here expect the open market in New York will remain fairly steady in its valuation of the Canadian dollar in view of the board's readiness to provide U.S. funds at a parity with Canadian funds plus half of 1 per cent charged for the operation of paying the money over.

Canadians visiting the United States still must purchase U.S. cash through the board and regulations which require that U.S. funds be turned in at Canadian banks still apply.

Secret Atomic Bomb Test Film Stolen From Courier In New York

KWAJALEIN (AP)—Theft of a large package of top-secret atomic bomb film after it had reached the United States was unofficially but reliably reported here today.

A courier reportedly relaxed his vigilance over the 30 to 40-pound package in New York City to make a telephone call either at the air terminal or railway station while on his way to Rochester, N.Y., where the film was to be developed. A man, the report said, grabbed the package and fled.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is understood to be investigating the case.

All color and most motion picture and still film made of the July 1 test at Bikini have been sent by officer-couriers to several United States cities for processing and study.

Windsor Slasher Strikes Again

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Police today said Joseph Gelencser of Windsor was stabbed early today in the general area of last summer's "slasher" attacks.

Fourteen stitches were required to close a wound in Gelencser's back. Police said they found a butcher knife believed used to stab Gelencser.

The stabbing came a week after the ice-pick stabbing of Alexander Voligny, 29, of Windsor, in the same locality.

Gelencser told police he received his wound in the area of the Campbell Avenue Park and Sandwich Street—several blocks from the scene of Windsor's two "slasher" killings of last summer but in the vicinity of the first of last summer's series of knifings which alarmed residents.

Fish Prices Soar

SEATTLE (AP) — Halibut prices to fishermen have reached a new post-O.P.A. high here. Salmon prices, which jumped sharply with the end of price control, continue well above the old ceilings. Four halibut schooners brought a total of 188,000 pounds of fish here.

Action To Cut Exports, Ease Buying In U.S.

The two-way "squeeze" rising U.S. prices were putting on British Columbia's economy will be eased considerably with the return of the Canadian dollar to parity with the United States' dollar, it was predicted here today by economists closest to British Columbia's trade and economical situation.

Effect of the move, announced Friday night in Ottawa, was foreseen as follows:

1. Americans will have less incentive to buy Canadian merchandise than before. This is important in a time when many kinds of merchandise are in short supply and will act as a further control against inflation in this country.

2. Canadians will be able to buy essential U.S. goods a little more easily than before. Effect of rising prices in the U.S. will be partly offset by the rise in the Canadian dollar.

This means eventually many of the shortages in British Columbia will be relieved.

One trade exporter predicted no great upswing in the imports from the U.S. to British Columbia because inflated prices there would partly offset the rise in the value of the Canadian dollar. Canadian imports from the U.S. during the war, because of a lack of U.S. dollars in Canada, were cut to a point which many considered as a minimum.

One economist, however, predicted that purchase of essential imports to British Columbia would be eased. These included petroleum, tin-plate, machinery for logging, traction engines and sub-tropical fruits. These imports represent several million dollars per month and make up the bulk of British Columbia's $80,000,000 annual bill for imports from the U.S.

"Rise of the Canadian dollar," he said, "simply means us tagging along a little closer in purchasing power."

With the cost of production increasing in B.C. mines, marginal operators it was suggested, might have to shut down. There is little likelihood of the price of gold rising since it has been fixed by the government.

Outlook of stockbrokers with regard to British Columbia gold mines was equally gloomy. They expected gold mines to show a definite downward trend on the stock exchange next week.

One broker said the change in the Canadian dollar had been foreseen by a large number of investors in both countries. Over the last two years Canadians have liquidated a considerable amount of United States securities while purchase of Canadian debentures by Americans has been heavy.

Local investment men foresee a rise in the price of Canadian bonds on the American market. Americans who bought Victory Bonds and left them in Canada may now sell and repatriate $1.10 for each United States dollar invested.

It was pointed out return of the Canadian dollar to parity with the United States dollar would mean relief of 10 per cent to provincial and municipal governments and independent companies making payments on account of capital and interest on bonds sold in the United States.

Less Incentive To Export Lumber

As for the lumber industry it was felt that reduction of the 10 per cent premium on American dollars would lessen the incentive for British Columbia lumber operators to sell their products south of the border.

Noting that lumbermen of this province had long complained about the low prices obtainable in the Canadian market, an economist warned that because of rising American prices many might still feel they should be free to ship as much to the United States as possible.

Though sawmill and logging equipment will be 10 per cent cheaper unless the U.S. price soars, this gain will be far less than the loss on export revenue, a lumber spokesman said.

Little change was foreseen for the time being in the amount of pulp, paper and fish exported from this province but revenue from the sale of newsprint will drop considerably.

Little Influence On Tourists

E. G. Rowebottom, deputy minister of trade and industry, expected little difference in the influx of American tourists. He said that despite that change they would "get half as much again here for their dollar as they do across the line."

"It will mean, however," he added, "that hundreds of Canadians who intended to spend their vacations in Canada owing to the premium on United States funds, now will travel to the states for their vacations."

George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, agreed with Mr. Rowebottom. He expected "an exodus of Canadians to the south for their holidays."

Hotel and restaurant operators here may be forced to absorb the loss of the 10 per cent exchange premium on United States money taken in but not banked Friday night.

No instructions have been received here on how to deal with U.S. funds and it is thought in banking circles that banks will be ordered to pay only the equivalent in Canadian dollars for U.S. currency.

Hard Blow To Gold Producers

On the other hand the revaluation of the Canadian dollar has hit British Columbia's gold mining industry, at present strike-bound, a heavy body blow which to some mines may prove fatal.

"Gold mine operators have heard their worst news yet," said one economist.

Dr. H. T. James, spokesman for a group of metal mine operators would have to revise the 6¼-cent an hour wage boost, offered strikers, because of the change of currency. Operators had been receiving $38.50 (Canadian) for gold sold in U.S. Now they will receive $35 per ounce.

Good news for housewives came from wholesale row where the expectation was that fruits imported from the United States would sell here for 10 per cent less than at present. One wholesaler warned, however, that advances in the American market must be taken into consideration.

Apricots, grapes, peaches and avocadoes were expected to drop next week while price of citrus fruits, of which there is a large stock on hand, was not expected to alter for two weeks. It was pointed out that price of the latter advanced last week when O.P.A. regulations were removed.

Wholesalers refused to predict if price of vegetables would be changed next winter. They pointed out that the supply for the next few months would come entirely from B.C.

Antique dealers, whose customers are chiefly Americans, admitted they might be affected but expected their volume of sales to change only slightly. One dealer noted that antiques were selling in the United States for from 35 per cent to 100 per cent more than here. He added that many articles sold here were impossible to obtain south of the border.

British Papers Make No Comment On Wells' Attack On Royal Family

LONDON (CP) — Britain's newspapers and radio newscasts today ignored an almost unprecedented attack by author-historian H. G. Wells on the Royal Family. Mr. Wells raised the question whether the monarchy was involved in prewar payments which a government minister has declared were made by Benito Mussolini to Sir Oswald Mosley, British Fascist leader.

Mr. Wells' article was published in the Socialist Leader, a comparatively obscure weekly paper of the extreme left-wing Independent Labor Party.

Buckingham Palace declined comment. However, Sir Ulick Alexander, Keeper of the Privy Purse, when asked if the Royal Family had aided Sir Oswald, exclaimed, "My God, no!"

Mr. Wells' secretary said the author had no further comment.

DISCUSSED BEFOREHAND

Douglas Rogers, editor of the Socialist Leader, said Mr. Wells was "an occasional contributor" to the periodical, with articles appearing twice or thrice yearly. Mr. Rogers said he had discussed Mr. Wells' criticism of the Royal Family before the author composed the article and that he was confident that "Wells would not have asked the questions he did (concerning Mosley) without some good basis."

Mr. Rogers added that he regarded the 79-year-old Wells as a writer of international reputation and believed he had given the matter serious thought before writing the article.

The Wells article, printed at the back of the small-size, eight-page periodical, began:

"The genuine democratic communities throughout the world need to know what is going on in this hushed-up business of the huge Mosley funds and how far our Royal Family is involved in this affair.

"If it is, then there is every reason why the House of Hanover should follow the House of Savoy (former Italian ruling family) into the shadows of exile and leave England to return to its old and present republican tradition . . .

'THINGS COMING OUT'

"Even this German-ruled . . . monarchy which links the English with the crumbling monarchist system of the world is menaced by a gathering accumulation of revelations. Things are coming out, and they are bound to come out.

"Why cannot these tainted people do the sane and patriotic thing while they may still be treated with consideration?

"Now they can be brought out and set apart with the sort of dignity and honors they value. Later on, their dismissal may have to be ruder."

The article offered no proof as a basis for the questions raised on activities of the Royal Family.

The newspaper London Journalist described the article as "the most serious thing since the abdication of Edward VIII."

The rest of the British press so far has ignored the article, which was published Friday, but did not reach the bulk of the magazine's subscribers until today.

Friday is a special feature day on the playgrounds. A pet-show will be the feature of next week's program.

A record-breaking crowd of 250 boys had their first swim lesson at the Crystal Pool Friday morning under the instruction of Fred Ellison. The learn-to-swim campaign is organized by the playgrounds and is open to any boy or girl in the city even if not registered on the playgrounds. The hours are:

A.F.L. Unions Back Moulders' Demands

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dick Osman, representing the A.F.L. Machinists' and Moulders' Union, Friday night pledged full support to striking members of Local 289 of the Vancouver District Metal and Chemical Workers' Union (C.I.O.-C.C.L.).

Mr Osman declared members of his union still on strike, "will accept nothing less than 15 cents an hour wage increase."

John Frame, chairman of the strike committee of C.I.O. Union, also agreed to abide by an increase of nothing less than 15 cents.

The foundry workers went on strike 48 days ago demanding a 29-cents-an-hour wage increase, 44-hour week and union security. Later, wage demands were dropped to 15 cents an hour, the figure set by Chief Justice Gordon Sloan in settling the recent strike in the lumber industry.

Ottawa's New Tax Plan Accepted By N.B.

FREDERICTON (CP) — New Brunswick is prepared to accept in principle the federal government's revised taxation proposals outlined by Finance Minister Ilsley when he brought down the budget.

Premier John B. McNair, in announcing his government's decision after a cabinet meeting Friday, declared it was in the interest of the people of New Brunswick, as well as in the national interest, that new agreements be negotiated with the Dominion.

From The Bottom Of The Sea

The photo above has come a long way—from the bottom of Bikini Lagoon, in the Pacific, through the air, over telephone wires to this paper. It shows a U.S. Navy diver stirring up "coral dust" as he moves about on the sea bottom, 162 feet down, during the atomic bomb tests. Taken by underwater photography used for mine disposal during the war, the photograph was transmitted by radio to San Francisco, where it was sent by telephoto to various points on the continent.

Legislature Area May Have 2-Hour Parking Zone

Establishment of a two-hour parking zone in the area around the Legislative Buildings will be recommended to Monday's City Council meeting by Ald. J. D. Hunter, chairman of the public works committee, he said, following a meeting Friday.

He said many complaints had been received about congestion of the streets in the area which made it practically impossible for cars to proceed along the street when streetcars were there. This constituted a fire hazard also for the whole of the James Bay area, he contended, because fire engines could not get through.

Streets on which the new zoning will probably be effective are the south side of Belleville and Superior; Superior Street between Government and Menzies; Menzies Street between Belleville and Superior; Elliot Street between Douglas and Government.

It will be recommended also that the tender from the Victoria Paving Co. Ltd. of $58,986 be accepted for the improving of Blanshard Stfeet between Pandora Avenue and Pembroke Street. Hope was expressed that the work could be started within the next month.

MAY ALTER STREET NAME

The suggestion will be advanced that McKenzie Street in Victoria be renamed Alexander Street in honor of Canada's Governor-General. The changing of the name has been requested by Saanich to prevent confusion with McKenzie Avenue, now that mail deliveries have been extended.

The committee will also recommend construction of gravel sidewalks on both sides of Clawthorpe Avenue, costing $700; on the south side of Oakland Avenue from Gosworth to Doncaster, and on the north side, east of Doncaster for 300 feet, costing $400.

Approval will be recommended for a request from Sidney Roofing and Paper Co. Ltd. for permission to build a spur line to the plant on Russell Street, provided the company undertakes to bear the expense of maintaining any street improvements for four feet on either side of the centre line of the spur.

Senate Approves Larger Commons; McGeer Opposes

OTTAWA (CP)—The government's resolution to raise the number of Commons' seats from 245 to 255 received Senate approval Friday by a vote of 24 to 7.

It now goes to London as a joint Commons-Senate resolution to the British Parliament to amend the British North America Act to provide parliamentary representation on the basis of national population.

The vote came after Senator G. G. McGeer, Lib., British Columbia, delivered more than a two-hour speech attacking the resolution and urging that the provincial governments be consulted. He was the only Liberal to vote against the resolution.

The Senate, after the vote, adjourned until July 23.

Senator Arthur Marcotte, P.C., Saskatchewan, said that whether Confederation was a pact or a treaty or a statute, its B.N.A. Act should not be amended without consultation with the provinces. Failing that, the provinces could feel they had been "trapped into a legal statute in a manner they had not intended and against which they would have no defence."

PROTECTION OF PROVINCES

Senator McGeer said the "paramount justification" for existence of the Senate was its power to prevent invasion of the rights of the smaller provinces by the larger. It should now fulfill its duty and protect the rights of the four western provinces whose total seats would remain the same in the face of "substantial overall increase."

He doubted the advisability of increasing the Commons membership at this time. It would be "unwanted and unnecessary."

"Does anyone here think the addition of 10 members is going to improve the efficiency of the Commons?"

He criticized the proposed change as reviving the record that the West "always gets in on the short end."

Turning to the Senate, he held it unfair that British Columbia and Alberta, with 500,000 more people, had only half as many Senators as the Maritimes. Yet the West was largely responsible for its position itself.

If there were to be changes in Parliament, then the West's position should be improved in the Upper House. On the basis of population it would only be just.

Prairie Women Work In B.C. Fruit Areas

WINNIPEG (CP) — Fred J. White, regional superintendent of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, announced here today the the excursion of female farmworkers from western Saskatchewan and Alberta to assist with the British Columbia fruit crop now has been completed and no more applicants can be accepted.

"The appeal for help was made to the National Employment Service by the B.C. fruit growers and the response by prairie women was most enthusiastic," he said. "Approximately 650 were accepted, 400 from Alberta and 250 from western Saskatchewan. They will be required mainly to handle the berry crops in the lower Fraser Valley and the orchard crops in the southern interior.

"In addition they may be asked at times to do other work in market gardens and in canning factories."

Ilsley Puts Canadian Dollar On Par With U.S.; Cuts Cost Of Production

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government Friday night took drastic action to strengthen Canada's bulwarks against inflation by returning the Canadian dollar to par with the United States dollar, clarifying the goods and services to which price controls apply and revising the ceiling policy on a wide range of imported goods.

The four-point reallignment of the country's stabilization program was outlined by Finance Minister Ilsley in a surprise announcement to a slimly attended House of Commons. He summarized the government's objective as the maintenance of "order, stability and independence" in the Dominion's economic and financial affairs.

While the program was designed to combat both domestic and external inflationary pressure, it was evident that the fence reparing move, in some respects at least, was a result of the United States current price control difficulties from the abandonment of price control.

Mr. Ilsley said he hoped the new measures would "go a long way toward insulating Canada against unfavorable external conditions and easing the inflationary pressures which now are so strong."

FOUR MAJOR STEPS

Here are the four steps being taken to protect the Canadian economy:

1. Effective at 5 p.m., P.D.T., Friday, the Canadian dollar was adjusted to parity with the United States dollar, with banks and other authorized agents of the Exchange Control Board buying American dollars at $1 Canadian funds and selling them at $1.00½. The buying rate for pounds sterling now will be $4.02 and the selling rate $4.04.

2. A long but simple and clear list of all goods and services which continue subject to price control has been established, including practically all articles of significance in the normal household budget and in the costs of production of farmers, fishermen and other primary producers. A number of less important articles have been suspended from price control.

3. The principles of price-control on domestic products remain unchanged, but hereafter all imported goods of a kind subject to price control, unless specifically dealt with on another basis, will be priced on the basis of the importer's landed costs, plus a prescribed maximum mark-up in each case which will be somewhat less than the mark-up normally obtained by distributors of similar domestic goods.

4. The policy of paying subsides will remain in effect in order to prevent "undue increases" in prices of articles of major importance in the consumer's cost-of-living or in primary producers' cost of production.

Mr. Ilsley said the new program was aimed at preventing undue increases in the cost of living and costs of production, improving the effectiveness of price control, encouraging a greater supply of scarce goods imported from other countries and facilitating an orderly post-war adjustment of the Canadian economy while protecting it from the major effects of "adverse developments outside our borders."

Mr. Ilsley said:

"Perhaps the greatest threat to the stability of prices in Canada comes from the rise in prices in the United States and, to a lesser extent, in other countries.

"The present position with respect to the future of price control in the United States remain uncertain. Without presuming to forecast what will happen in the legislative sphere, recent developments would seem to suggest that further increases in prices in that country are likely to occur. Indeed, quite aside from recent congressional developments, the fact is that prices in the United States have been rising steadily for some time and are already at a level substantially above the Canadian level when compared with the normal or prewar position.

PRESSURE ON CANADA

"In view of the strong commercial ties between this country and the United States, this trend has naturally exercised an increasing strong upward pressure upon Canadian costs and prices, which we have sought to resist or neutralize as best we could.

"To a lesser extent, increases in prices in other countries than the United States have had the same effect. Higher prices for Canadian imports trend to push up production costs and the cost-of-living in Canada, except to the extent that these increases are offset by subsidy payments or absorbed by Canadian importers and distributors.

". . . But while the greatest threat to the stability of prices in Canada arises outside our own borders, the situation in Canada itself is not free from difficulty. The same tendencies that are present in almost every other country today are working in Canada also to raise prices.

"Most of the price increases which have been authorized in Canada in recent months, and which have naturally given rise to concern on the part of the public, were the result of an accumulation of cost increases—increases in labor and material costs and the like—which have been going on for five years. Moreover the continued shortage of materials and shortages of labor in certain lines, are tending to raise costs of production still further and to push prices up.

"Other price increases resulted from the necessity of encouraging production of necessary but less profitable goods and the removal or reduction of subsidies."

C.P. Writer Sees Normandy Rapidly Overcoming War Scars

By ROSS MUNRO

CAEN, France (CP)—Here in Normandy where two years ago one of the most titanic battles in history raged it is difficult today even to reconstruct the impression of the actions which shattered the German Atlantic Wall and crushed Hitler's armies in France.

I came back with the Empire Press Union party now touring France to all the places in the beachhead I came to know while with the Canadian army during the campaign and I had to look twice at most of the old battle locations to make sure they were the same places.

I got lost on roads I used to know with my eyes shut.

Nature and the Norman people have reclaimed this land from war and devastation in a remarkably short time.

I found children playing on the sand of landing beaches at Bernieres where the Queen's Own Rifles from Toronto and the Fort Garry Horse of Winnipeg stormed ashore. Colorful beach tents are dotted among the dunes between coastal defence casemates which cost so much to overcome.

On the sweeping beaches smashed landing craft still are littered, but sand is drifting high on them.

The French haven't forgotten the Canadians. Several plaques near the beaches commemorate the liberation landings.

Courseulles, where western Canada infantry landed against heavy opposition, is a sleepy village again. A fortified hotel near the beach which cost the Regina Rifles a bitter fight again is open for business, specializing in seafood.

Normandy again looks like the travel poster it seemed to be when we first saw it from the sea on D-Day morning before the barrage began. A magnificent crop covers the scars of the battlefield and there are only a few skeletons of tanks, trucks and armored cars lying about. There are a few weather-beaten Canadian route signs.

St. Lambert-sur-Dives and Chambois where the escape route of the German 7th Army finally was cut by Canadians and Poles now is pleasant countryside. But there are still Germans scattered through the old beachhead — prisoners of war of the French helping in reconstruction.

Hanging Of Nazi Described To Court

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP) The Crown Friday presented to the Alberta Supreme Court a statement which it claimed was signed by Sgt. Walter Wolf, German prisoner of war, in which he described the hanging of a fellow prisoner, Cpl. Karl Lehmann, in the Medicine Hat internment camp, Sept. 10, 1944, but declared he had no part whatever in the actual hanging.

The jury was excluded while the statement, in German, was translated and read in English for an interpretation as to its admissability. The statement will be interpreted again following a contention by Defence Counsel G. E. A. Rice that parts of it had been translated incorrectly and that it was not a voluntary one on the part of Wolf.

Chief Justice W. R. Howson will rule on the admissability of the statement later.

Employment Showed Increase In April

OTTAWA (CP) — General industrial employment in Canada continued its upward trend during April although the expansion at May 1 was on a smaller scale than at April 1, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Friday.

The 15,867 establishments reporting May 1 said they were employing 1,728,535 men and women, a gain of 3,262 over April 1. The gain of 0.2 per cent brought the index—on the base 1926 equals 100—to 169.2 compared with 168.9 on April 1 and 175.5 at May 1, 1945.

Employment in all provinces except Quebec and New Brunswick showed heightened activity.

4 Men Injured

MARCUS HOOK, Pa. (AP)—At least four men were burned today in an explosion and fire aboard a loaded gasoline barge anchored at the Sun Oil Company dock in the Delaware River.

A spokesman for the company said the barge was owned by the Graham Oil Transport Company, Gladwynne, Pa. He said it had not been determined if anyone had been killed.

"As far as we know there were only four men aboard the barge when it caught fire," he said. "All of these men jumped into the river and were rescued by our employees."

The Chester Hospital said "none seem to be badly injured."

The Sun Company said the fire was brought under control within three hours and that only slight damage resulted to its docks where the fire spread.

Remembrance Day May Remain Nov. 11 As Public Favors It

By Canadian Institute of Public Opinion

TORONTO—Sporadic debate as to the most suitable date for a national "Remembrance Day" leaves the public fairly cold, but those who do have any feelings on the matter lean towards continuing with Nov. 11.

Largest single group, representing nearly half the population, have no preference as between Nov. 11 (Armistice Day for World War I), May 8 (VE-Day) or Aug 15 (VJ-Day).

The question put by Gallup Poll opinion reporters to a sample of the population was phrased:

"There has been some discussion about changing the date of Remembrance Day from Nov. 11 to VE-Day or VJ-Day. Have you any feelings about this?"

Evidence that the question is just not an issue with a great many people is shown in the fact that no less than 43 per cent said they had no feeling about it, or no preference as to date.

No preference, 43 per cent; Nov. 11 and VE-Day or VJ-Day, 32 per cent; VE-Day, 12 per cent; VJ-Day, 12 per cent; miscellaneous, 6 per cent.

Figures add to more than 100 because of multiple answers.

Biggest consideration in the minds of those Canadians who favor VJ-Day as the most suitable one for Remembrace, is the fact that the weather is likely to be more suitable for outdoor meetings. To those who selected VE-Day the argument was that the day means more to the present generation.

The poll found only a slightly higher tendency among veterans of World War I to favor continuing with the Nov. 11 date, and a slightly higher tendency for World War II veterans to favor VE-Day.

I.W.A. Award Seen As Basis To Settle Other Disputes

By Canadian Press

Labor Minister Mitchell in the House of Commons Friday night expressed belief the settlement of the British Columbia woodworkers' strike would serve as a good guide for other disputes throughout the nation.

This announcement followed a report from Vancouver that settlement of the dispute between the interior British Columbia lumber operators and the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) on the basis of a 10-cents-an-hour wage increase had been made Friday night following a conference of union and operator representatives with Chief Justice Gordon Sloan, federal-appointed industrial disputes commissioner.

The wage settlement was one of several provisions agreed on in an interim agreement providing for continuing negotiation on revision of certain wage categories now established by federal order before "execution of the formal contract." It also provides for binding arbitration by the Chief Justice where agreement is not reached in such negotiation.

The agreement, affecting 5,000 interior workers, also calls for the wage increase to be retroactive to the date of the employees' return to work; a 44-hour week with time-and-half for overtime and the insertion of the check-off clause agreed on in the settlement of the strike of the 32,000 coast workers.

The 36-day strike of the coast loggers and sawmill workers was settled June 20 on the basis of a 15-cents-an-hour wage increase, a 44-hour week and voluntary irrevocable check-off.

The interior workers continued on strike until about a week ago, when they returned to work at pre-strike wage rates pending satisfactory settlement of their demands.

Denies Collapse

VANCOUVER (CP) — Garry Culhane, secretary of the Shipyard General Workers' Federation (C.C.L.) said here Friday there had been no collapse in the joint conference of shipyard unions as a body empowered to negotiate with the shipbuilders on behalf of all unions in B.C. shipyards.

He added the joint conference and the operators representatives met Friday in negotiation for the first time in seven weeks.

Meanwhile, J. W. Thompson, secretary of the B.C. Shipbuilding Federation, said steel shipbuilders were willing to negotiate jointly with C.C.L. and A.F.L. unions if that was the wish of the unions.

Human beings are the only creatures with mastoid cells in the bony structure surrounding the ears.

Measures In Commons To Widen Canadian Firms' Exports, Imports

OTTAWA, July 6 (CP).—The Commons took steps Friday to facilitate the dealings of business firms in the matter of imports and exports and unexpectedly heard Finance Minister Ilsley announce the Canadian dollar had been brought to a parity with the U.S. dollar.

Trade Minister MacKinnon advanced two bills, one of them extending the provisions of the Export Credits Insurance Act and the other establishing a Canadian commercial corporation which will assist business firms in the handling of goods they wish to import or export.

Mr. Ilsley's announcement was coupled with the disclosure that steps are being taken to protect the Canadian economy from outside inflationary pressure. The announcement came on one of the busiest days of the Commons since the start of the session three months ago.

TO EXTEND MEASURE

Shortly after the sitting had opened, Prime Minister King disclosed Parliament will be asked to extend the Emergency Powers Act under which many of the wartime controls have continued so legislation covering each control will not have to be introduced this session.

Mr. King said the legislative program already was heavily loaded. Unless there was co-operation among all parties an early end of the session was not in sight.

In suggesting the emergency powers bill be extended, he said it was his intention to open the next session before the end of next January. Opposition parties agreed on the extension on the understanding the session would not be delayed beyond January.

He made no special reference to the contentious flag issue and there was speculation that selection of a Canadian flag might be postponed until next year or later.

Justice Department estimates also were dealt with and Justice Minister St. Laurent said there were no grounds for casting reflections on La Banque Provinciale du Canada with which the Prices Board is discontinuing its ration coupon banking system as from July 31. There were grounds for casting reflections on some of the employees of the bank who were charged with mishandling the coupons.

WHEAT NEGOTIATIONS

Mr. MacKinnon said that if the negotiations with the United Kingdom for a long-term wheat contract were being held up because of United States opposition, he was not aware of it.

The Trade Minister said the changes in the Export Credits Insurance Act were aimed at extending the insurance coverage and at enlarging the purposes for which the credits might be used.

Under the act, which authorized loans up to a total of $750,000,000, some $577,500,000 already had been loaned to countries outside the sterling area. The loans had been granted to France, Belgium, China, Czechoslovakia, the Netherlands, Netherlands East Indies, Norway and Russia. A number of other undisclosed countries now were applying for loans.

B.C. Log Prices Up $4 - $5 Per 1,000 In July So Far

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia log prices have been increased by an average of $4 and $5 a thousand since June 30, H. S. Irwin, chairman of the B.C. Loggers' Association, said in an interview Friday.

In some high grades of fir, Mr. Irwin said, the increases have gone to "possibly" $6 a thousand. These are the prices lumber manufacturers must pay for logs on the open market.

It is the second time log prices have been boosted since Nov. 17, when average increases of $2 a thousand were made effective, following lifting of the federal price ceiling on logs, Mr. Irwin disclosed.

Reason for the upward trend, he said, was increased wages and shorter working hours in the logging industry.

Russians Ignore U.S. Appeals For Help With Korea

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia has ignored American appeals for co-operation in rebuilding a Korean government, officials reported Friday, and the United States is going ahead on its own.

In the American occupation zone in Korea Maj.-Gen. Archer Lerch, Military Government Chief, is setting up machinery by which it is hoped the Koreans, who have had no political independence for almost half a century of Japanese domination, will be able to prepare themselves to resume full freedom.

This machinery includes an advisory legislative council. The Korean political parties will contest for seats on the council, and once it is convened it will go through all the motions of handling national problems and enacting national laws. Such enactments as are approved by the U.S. military government will actually go into effect in the American zone.

American officials said today that they still stand on the principle that all democratic political parties in Korea should be heard, but that they are anxious to go ahead in co-operation with the Russians if possible. To that end the American government has sent two inquiries to Moscow and both have been ignored so far.

TWO DOLLARS SHAKE HANDS

CANADIANS HAD BECOME ACCUSTOMED to paying a premium of 10 per cent on United States funds. But it has always gone against the grain; they never could see any reason why their dollar should be inferior to any other currency. Now that Finance Minister Ilsley has decreed that 100 cents of Canadian money will buy the same number of American cents, however, this country's imports from the neighboring republic will probably increase substantially and immediately. In this respect, return to parity will be warmly welcomed by purchasers of those commodities which are essential to Canadian production but which are in short supply in this country.

Within this range, of course, are various items of farm machinery and industrial equipment which even at the higher cost to the purchaser have had to come from the United States for obvious reasons. By the same token, too, the more Canada buys from her neighbor the more she will be able to sell. This consideration may be extraneous to Mr. Ilsley's principal moves to "implement this country's determination to maintain order, stability and independence of its economic and financial affairs." It is nevertheless a highly significant one as the Dominion charts its course for greater production in the interests of the national income. And ours is primarily an exporting nation.

Little importance should be attached to the argument that our friends in the neighboring republic may come to Canada in lesser numbers because their dollar will no longer be worth 110 cents here. They have naturally appreciated the condition which has imparted this substantial advantage to their spending power while visiting on this side of the 49th parallel. But we venture to think that the holiday-maker from the United States who is bent on seeing this part of the continent will find no deterrent in the fact that his 100-dollar bill in future will be worth 100 dollars instead of $110. On the other hand, of course, more of our people will go south and thus redress the balance in temporary population exchange which has hitherto given us domestic advantage. This will be all to the good in the long run. It should make for still better understanding between the two peoples—a valuable asset at all times.

THE MEXICAN ELECTION

DOWN IN THE IMPORTANT LATIN-American state of Mexico tomorrow the people will go to the polls to choose a new President—in what is being acclaimed as her first really honest election. The fight is confined to two candidates. One is Senor Miguel Aleman, former Governor of Vera Cruz and President Avila Camacho's Minister of the Interior until he resigned a year ago to concentrate on the campaign which ends tonight. The other is Senor Ezequiel Padilla, who has been in turn, Congressman, Senator, criminal lawyer, Attorney-General and, for several years prior to his resignation last summer, Minister of Foreign Affairs.

So far as one can judge from this distance and from the meagre reports available on the progress of the campaign, political differences between the two former members of the same cabinet are relatively slight. Both call themselves "revolutionary" because it is fashionable and politically profitable for any candidate for public office to associate himself with that event in Mexican history. Strictly speaking, however, both are "middle-of-the-roaders." Aleman is the government candidate, backed by the Institutional Revolutionary Party—the only national party—and has the support of the Mexican Confederation of Labor. Padilla, on the other hand, has had the active assistance of the Mexican Democratic Party—formed by himself—and those elements which approve his adherence to basic liberal concepts.

In Aleman and Padilla, however, there is a striking contrast in personalities. The former, apart from his political acumen, is a pastmaster in the art of showmanship; his billboard and other phases of his publicity campaign have evidently surpassed anything ever before attempted in the history of the nation. His play on industrialization and nationalistic aspirations has won him many plaudits. Padilla is the scholar, the cosmopolite, the internationalist, and a Liberal who practices what he preaches. But he paid the price for his support of Argentina's admission to a seat among the United Nations at San Francisco. He had played a prominent role in the proceedings at Chapultepec which had produced accord among the nations of the Pan-American Union—including the Argentine's agreement to declare war on the Axis, thus restoring her to the family of the 21 republics. His contributions to the debates at the conference in the city by the Golden Gate, however, won him the title of "Yankee stooge" because his world outlook and understanding of the crying need of the hour so often agreed with the American point of view. And by no stretch of the imagination can close ties with the United States be regarded as a political asset south of the Rio Grande. The concensus, therefore, seems to be that nothing short of a miracle will send Padilla to the top of the poll tomorrow.

What is of tremendous importance to the people of Mexico—if not especially so to the two presidential candidates—is that this election will give them an opportunity to cast ballots for the first time in the nation's 123-year-old history. For we are reminded that in previous presidential elections, which are held every six years, probably not more than about 250,000 out of approximately 21,000,000 have been able to exercise the franchise. Municipal and other bosses have invariably "arranged" matters to suit the favorite candidate. Under the provisions of a federal electoral law passed last December, however, the central government took complete charge of all election machinery. The demand of Mexicans for free, democratic elections had at last been heeded.

MORE LAURELS FOR VICTORIA

WHATEVER VICTORIA'S THREE junior swimming stars may accomplish later in the day at the continuing Canadian championship meet at Hamilton, the boys have already justified the faith of citizens here who helped to make their trip east possible. As this is written, two of them, Peter Salmon and Eric Jubb are newly crowned junior Canadian title holders in the 100 yards breast stroke and 100 yards backstroke, respectively. The former, moreover, has a new Dominion record to his credit.

Once again eastern Canada, which recently watched the Dominoes sweep to national triumph, is being shown the athletic calibre of the Far West. And the boys now in Hamilton have provided another goal for which future young Victorians may aim as they participate in a branch of sport which offers such rewards in body and character building. Last night's victories, incidentally, add another bright feather to the cap of their coach, Archie McKinnon, whose contribution to the welfare of young citizens is not limited to making champions, but extends to the hundreds who come under his influence in this community.

'VAGUE MISGIVING'

MAHATMA GANDHI, COMMENTING ON the conclusion of the negotiations for India's independence, intimates that his mind was "filled with a vague misgiving." Whether he referred specifically to an interim administration of 14 "caretakers" which the Viceroy announced he would set up when the Congress Party finally decided not to commit itself as a party to this form of temporary government, or whether he meant the long range commitment to the basic constitution of Indian independence, remains to be seen.

In 1930, when Lord Irwin, the present Earl Halifax, was Viceroy, he was asked by Negley Farson, who interviewed him during the worst part of Mr. Gandhi's Civil Disobedience movement, what he thought of Mr. Gandhi. The viceroy replied: "The first time I saw Gandhi I was tremendously impressed by his holiness. The second time I was tremendously impressed by his legal astuteness. This time I was sure of it." "Of which, Your Excellency?" asked Mr. Farson. "That is for you to decide," said Lord Irwin.

Mr. Gandhi has devoted his life to India's independence of British authority. His campaign was based on "civil disobedience," a kind of passive resistance to that authority, however exercised, by the teeming millions of India's Hindus. But passive resistance to any authority is a very different thing to active participation in the government of any country. The first can be illegal and effective, the second must be legal and efficient. Whether the lion of Pakistan, led by Mr. Jinnah, can lie down with the lamb of Hindustan, led by Mr. Nehru, may now be the chief matter evoking "vague misgiving" in the mind of Mr. Gandhi.

GOOD TALK

LIKE THE RESTFUL COMFORT OF warm firelight after the garish lighting of a city street are those rare occasions when good talk claims its infrequent time from the clamoring mouths of radio and the discordant, shallow assertiveness of too positive folk with too few ideas. It is an hour of friendly enjoyment when compatible minds can share their treasures, mull over the gems they have stored from experience and study and find renewed beauty in the examination of concepts they have little opportunity to explore in the busy daily round.

It may be an old book they discuss, turning with sympathetic gentleness its substance to admire again the solid kernel of its virtue, or the artistry of its composition. It may be a revered personality whose character and kindliness recalled bring renewed richness to his acquaintanceship. It may be to the fields of art or philosophy to which the interchange turns, with ideas and appreciations unfolding, unhurried, to lend new interest, new light and shade, to the subject.

Of these elements is good talk compounded, not so stimulating as controversy or debate, but friendly and enduring like old wood, high-polished and sound, unsplintered and uncorroded by those forces which crack and crumble the thin veneer of noisy comedy, dogmatic statement and the shrill pipings that so often pass for conversation.

THE RALLYING POINT

AFTER MONTHS of discussion, of challenge and deep schism, the Security Council of the United Nations emerges stronger in the esteem of the western world than its friends had dared to hope. While restricted by its own rules and the principle of the great powers' veto, the Council has already made itself the rallying point of world opinion. It is becoming the conscience of humanity.

It is as a moral force, indefinable but of proved potency, that the western powers, and Russia also, now regard the United Nations. Recent events show that this force is no longer academic, a mere pious hope, but has made itself the centre of practical politics in international affairs. The meaning of these events is that the United States, which once rejected collective security altogether, is now basing its foreign policy on the mobilization of the world's opinion through the United Nations, and it is carrying other nations with it.

WHEN THE UNITED STATES proposes, if all other methods fail, to take the peace settlement into the Assembly of the United Nations it does not suggest that the United Nations at present possesses the complete machinery of peace making, a business from which it is specifically excluded by the decisions of San Francisco. The United States does believe, however, that the moral power of the United Nations, as the world's conscience, can be used, in a just cause, to aid co-operation between disputing states on questions which threaten the welfare of the world.

That the United States is prepared to base its policy and its hopes on this final court of appeal shows not only that the old policy of American isolationism has been fully repealed, but that the potential power of the United Nations in the enforcement of peace is recognized as a practical instrument, and an instrument which can grow with experience.

THE POLICY of the United States, built on the United Nations, and the similar policy of the British Commonwealth, has developed out of actual experience in the Security Council since it convened on March 25 last. This meeting had hardly opened before the Council was faced with its first test. If it had failed then, the world's hopes for it would have been dimmed. It did not fail.

The challenge came from the little nation of Iran, then largely in the grip of Russia. The Security Council had to decide whether, in supporting the just complaints of a small powerless nation, it could afford to risk the displeasure of a great power. It decided to take this risk.

THE IMPORTANT fact by which the world judged the Security Council is that even one of the two greatest powers could not prevent the world studying its actions and passing judgment on them. And when Russia bowed to this judgment and withdrew its troops it was clear that this judgment, though it could not be enforced by any physical means against a Russian veto, possessed a compelling force which no nation could lightly disregard.

Apart from this general lesson, the Security Council's session has established three vital precedents.

First, it has shown that a small nation can get its case before the world even though a great power tries to stop it. Russia's assertion that the Iranian dispute was not the business of the Council was rejected at the start. Second, the Council showed that it could and would pursue its investigations and make its judgment even in the face of a boycott by a great power. When the Russian delegate walked out the Council was not cowed. In the face of an unexpected crisis, for which no rules were provided, the Council went ahead. Boycott failed.

THIRD, THE COUNCIL refused to drop the Iranian dispute even when Iran—influenced, no doubt, by Russia—proposed that the whole issue be withdrawn from discussion. Thus it was established that, once a question is on the agenda, it is the property of the Council. The plaintiff cannot abandon it for his own reasons or as a result of outside pressure.

All this does not mean, of course, that the Council has solved the problem of enforcing peace. But it has decided that no great power can veto its will to investigate a problem threatening to peace. The right of a great power to veto any physical action to enforce peace remains as it was written into the Charter to satisfy the great powers' claims of sovereignty. This veto is strictly confined to physical action. It is now clear that it cannot be used to throttle discussion or to impair a moral judgment by the world in joint session.

THUS the first experimental attempts at collective security, though they have not gone far, have brought the United Nations successfully through its infancy. It has not died at birth as many of its critics expected. It has lived through these dangerous first days, not without difficulty and not without fumbling in this new and untried ground. Greater difficulties doubtless lie ahead.

Having established itself, having become the final instrument of foreign policy in the western nations, having made itself the conscience of the world, the United Nations is better able to face these tests of the future than its founders had hoped. Its main strength and its opportunity to grow rests primarily on the general realization of the world that, imperfect as it yet is, it alone stands between civilization and anarchy.

We have not won the peace yet. We have only removed some of the barriers to peace by whipping Germany and Japan — Gen. Omar N. Bradley, U.S. Veterans Administrator.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press
Foreign Affairs Analyst.

Despite Mr. Molotov's backdown last night on plans for the 21-power peace conference, recent developments as a whole seem to bear out opinions that Russia is definitely working toward an accord with the United States.

This is bolstered particularly by a new report that the Kremlin may not press, at least for the time being, its ancient ambitions regarding the Dardanelles.

As the story reaches me—and the source is usually a good one—British and American diplomats were not surprised when Mr. Molotov suddenly agreed at Paris to give the Dodecanese Islands to Greece, in spite of previous indications the Russians would demand bases there.

The story is that, prior to the conference, the Russians asked Britain to indicate to Turkey that now would be a good time to renegotiate the Russo-Turkish treaty of friendship which Moscow had been saying must be revised.

The Turkish reaction is reported to have been that "If they want to talk about taking or using an inch of Turkish ground for any purpose, there is no use talking at all."

Then Russia is said to have added, in effect: "Tell them to make a move anyway. Maybe things aren't so bad as they think," thus indicating there might be no insistence on the cession of Dardanelles bases and some territory in northeastern Turkey previously mentioned in Russian statements. The Dodecanese and Italian colonies over which she also stopped contending would, of course, mean nothing to Russia if her Dardanelles program is to be shelved.

There are other things tying in with the report published in this column last week that Stalin feels Russia needs little more, internationally speaking, for her immediate security, and that an accord with the United States has become a priority policy.

"NERVES" She Called It

Losing interest—losing friends—she never went out any more—always too tired. "Nerves", she thought—but it was her kidneys—the filters of her blood—that needed attention. She used Dodd's Kidney Pills at once. The improved action of her kidneys helped to clear away blood impurities and excess acids. Fatigue, backache, headache, lack of energy disappeared. Dodd's Kidney Pills contain essential oils and medicinal ingredients that act directly upon the kidneys—and help restore their normal action. 144

Victoria Nature Talks

By ROBERT CONNELL

ICE AGE RELICS

The plains of Colwood and Langford are a notable feature of the landscape to the west of Victoria and Esquimalt. The rocky hills from Mill Hill and Mount Skirt on the north and the Humpback group on their outliers on the west give the country an impressive background.

Actually it was from the Goldstream region that the plains derived their origin as the broad delta of a post-glacial river. The delta has lain for thousands of years above the level of the sea in which is was originally deposited, and with its rise the waves have since cut the 240-foot cliff of the gravel pit north of Albert Head.

The remarkably level surface of the plains is broken here and there by curious depressions of a roundish or oval shape, some of which are 60 feet below the general surface. Some of the largest occur near the gravel pit. Most of them are dry but where they reach the underlying clay they hold some water in the beginning of summer. The depressions, or kettles as they are called by geologists, owe their origin to blocks of glacial ice stranded and buried in the river gravels. On the melting of these blocks the collapse of the overlying materials formed irregular pit-like hollows.

The three lakes, Langford and its small neighbors, Florence and Glen, are, of course, the central features of the plains. Florence Lake has a small extension to the south that suggests in its absence of rocks one of the kettles referred to. At this season it still holds water and makes along its shores an easily accessible place for seeing some of our water plants. The wild duck is often met, the violet-green swallows hunt their prey close to the water's surface and even the night-hawk descends from its customary heights to skim on graceful wing the lower levels.

WATER PLANT

Here by the water's edge the little lesser spearwort exhibits its golden flowers and its simple leaves, and the water forget-me-not, prettiest of its kind, bears the bluest of blossoms. But of all the plants along the margin of the water the one known as mare's-tail is one of the oddest. It grows in the water but the rapid ebb of the flood in summer leaves many a plant stranded. It is at first sight a little like a coarse horsetail and hence its popular name. The stem is encircled at regular jointed intervals by whorls of narrow dark green leaves, six or more in number. The leafy stem narrows towards the summit as the groups of leaves become younger, smaller, and less expanded. The general appearance has won for the plant another popular name, that of bottle-rush.

Unlike the horsetail which is related to the ferns, this is a flowering plant but the flowers in the axils of the leaves are very small and inconspicuous, a two-lobed ring for calyx, no petals, not more than one stamen, and a single carpel and seed. The flowering part rises above the water and when it is matured the whorled stem sinks and dies. The botanical name is Hippuris vulgaris.

At the edge of Florence Lake the sweet gale thickets are particularly interesting with their leaves dotted with fragrant wax. Hardhack neighbors the gale and in among it on the muddy edge the dark purple water avens grow occasionally with the three-leaved buckbean. Here, also, the pallid marsh violet is to be found, a later bloomer than our land violets because of its cooler environment. The red-barked dogwood or osier-rouge of the French is common among the willows of which the Sitka or silky one is the most conspicuous. A red-wing uttering its loud whistling alarm note from a tall bush is a common accompaniment.

The DOCTOR Says:

HYPNOSIS HAS LIMITED PSYCHIATRIC VALUE

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

Hypnosis is a form of mental suggestion. Though at one time it was commonly employed by psychiatrists in the treatment of mental illness, it is not much used today, since it may be disturbing to those patients who believe it an indefensible attempt to control their thoughts and actions.

Contrary to popular belief, it is impossible to compel a person under hypnosis to do anything which is contrary to his moral code. No sleep from which the patient cannot awaken can be produced either.

To induce hypnosis, the patient is placed in a dark, quiet room on a comfortable bed and is asked to concentrate his attention on an object held close to his eyes, while the physician speaks in a slow, monotonous tone of voice and gently strokes his forehead.

DOCTOR MAY DOMINATE

In some persons, hypnosis may be introduced by using exactly the opposite method, wherein the doctor dominates the situation and makes the patient respond.

Extreme degrees of relaxation can be produced by either method, as some patients fall into a deep sleep and are unable for some time to remember what has happened.

Some physicians are credited with hypnotic powers because of their ability to induce the cooperations of their patients. It is obvious, however, that "occult" powers are not possessed by anyone, and even the most expert psychiatrists sometimes encounter obstinate patients.

Hypnosis may be used effectively in the treatment of those conditions which were brought about by suggestion (hysteria). In such cases the hypnotic suggestion to move an apparently paralyzed limb may be stronger than the previous hysterical suggestion which rendered it useless.

SEDATIVES HELPFUL

Constant, monotonous repetition of a suggestion to a patient may cause him to respond in a desirable way if he is given an injection of a sedative drug at the same time. In this instance distracting influences are eliminated by the drug, which dulls the higher centres in the brain.

The use of hypnosis should be limited to specialists in mental diseases (psychiatrists), and it should not be employed by persons who cannot realize the limitations of the method or understand the harm which may follow.

Shock treatments, in which the patient loses consciousness from a charge of electricity or from the administration of certain drugs, are considered to be of value by some psychiatrists, chiefly because the patient responds to suggestion more readily immediately after regaining his senses.

Advisers To Quit

OTTAWA (CP)—The government plans to discontinue the regional reconstruction councils established across Canada to act as advisers on matters affecting the transition from war to peace because the transition has been "largely affected," Reconstruction Minister Howe said Friday in the Commons.

FALLEN TREES MAY HAVE PROVIDED FIRST BIDGE IDEA

Every day in the year, millions of people go across bridges. The greatest traffic of this kind takes place in certain big cities, including New York, London and Paris, but thousands of other cities, and thousands of villages have bridges in them, or near them.

Bridges are so common that it is hard to think of a time when the world was without them. Yet, it is believed that people did not know how to make them during the Old Stone Age. Before boats were invented, a man who wanted to cross a river had to wade across, swim across, or ride on a log. Late in the Stone Age, the first boats were built.

In a few places we find "natural bridges." Natural bridge in Virginia and rainbow arch in Utah are famous examples of these. It is likely that early men crossed rivers in some places with the help of such gifts of Nature.

There is a legend that a natural bridge once spanned the Columbia river, near Columbia Gorge, and was useful to Indians who wanted to cross the great stream. This bridge is supposed to have tumbled down about 175 years ago. A visitor may see today heaps of stone in the river which are said to have been part of the natural bridge.

Stone Age people may have found fallen trees which made bridges of a sort across small streams. By walking along the trunk, a person might cross a stream without getting his feet wet.

Fallen trees very likely gave people the first idea of building bridges. Trees which stood on the banks may have been cut so they would fall across the streams and give passage.

Another kind of bridge, which we may call "suspension," has a long history. The first of these are known to have been made thousands of years ago. It has been suggested that the Indus valley in India was the place where the invention was made, but that is far from certain.

Rope bridges are of the suspension type. We find them in various countries of Asia, including China and Japan.

Coral Gown Worn By Friday's Bride

Rev. T. H. McAllister read the marriage service Friday evening at Gorge Presbyterian Church uniting Doris, elder daughter of Mrs. J. Fox, 2858 Austin Avenue, and the late Mr. Fox, and Walter Schmunk, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Schmunk, Portland.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, T. Taylor, and wore an afternoon frock of coral crepe with square neckline and draped sash at the waist, and matching hat. Her accessories were navy blue and she carried a bouquet of Rapture roses, gardenias and white sweet peas.

Mrs. M. St. Pierre was her sister's attendant, frocked in turquoise blue crepe with bandeau of mauve flowers in her hair. She carried an arm bouquet of mauve-shaded stocks and sweet peas. Best man was F. St. Pierre.

A reception for 85 guests was held in St. Martin's hall, where Mrs. Fox and Mrs. H. Schmunk received the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Schmunk will make their home at La Push, Wash., following a honeymoon to Portland, via Port Angeles. For traveling, the bride donned a blue fox-trimmed coat over her wedding ensemble with a Catteleya orchid on the lapel.

British Women Demand Equal Pay

MANCHESTER, Eng. (Reuter)—Four thousand women engineers employed at nearby Trafford Park, big industrial estate, at a meeting Friday loudly cheered speakers' suggestions for a new suffragette movement to achieve "equal pay for the job" for British women.

The demonstration, organized by the women's work committee of the British Metropolitan Pickers factory at Trafford Park, was attended by female engineers from that and other plants. Maisie Reynolds, who won the British Empire Medal for her work on radar during the war, told them: "Women are leaving the factories wholesale and no wonder. This exodus is holding up Britain's industrial rehabilitation."

The women adopted a resolution demanding the National Arbitration Tribunal reconsider application of women in the engineering industry for an increase from the present flat rate of 50s ($11.10) a week to at least the 86s wage of an unskilled male laborer.

Hand Weavers Prepare For School

Mrs. W. P. Rankin, Mrs. R. H. Linley and Miss Marjorie Hill, left to right, warp one of the 32 looms that will be used at the school of hand weaving commencing next week.

For the better part of a week members of the Victoria Hand Weaver's Guild have been preparing a workroom for the school of hand-weaving, commencing Monday, and continuing until July 20.

This is the second school to be sponsored by the Guild in Victoria and is planned to promote handicrafts in Canada and the United States.

Through the co-operation of the management, a large room has been secured at Prince Robert House, with good light and plenty of space for the 32 floor looms and various hand looms needed for the classes.

Supplied for the most part by members of the guild these looms must be assembled on arrival, then warped, threaded, sleyed and tied-in ready for weaving. The process takes anywhere from two hours to two days for each loom, and guild members have been kept busy completing this work in time for the school opening.

Classes will include many visitors from as far east as Halifax, and from San Francisco, Santa Barbara and other American cities. A request for an application was even received from England but transportation problems necessitated a cancellation.

Mrs. W. P. Rankin, president of the guild, has been in charge of all arrangements. Assisting her in preparing the workroom and assembling looms has been Miss M. Turner, vice-president; Mrs. W. Coulter, secretary; Mesdames K. Massey, D. McGregor, R. H. Linley, Elsie Cook, J. L. White and Miss Marjorie Hill.

The school will be open for inspection July 10 and 17, in the evening from 7 until 9

WAR FREEDOM AND WIVES

One of the by-products of the war is the problem wife, and she is a new species of fauna whose ways and habits are strange to her former possessor, and his efforts to domesticate her are causing him a lot of headaches. The Canadian wife, taking her by and large, has never been noted for being a meek and gentle and easily managed animal, but for the most part, she has kept the path trodden out for her by her foremothers. But now that she has had a few years of freedom in which she was the boss of the ranch, she has put hay on her horns and jumped the bars into what she believes to be greener pastures.

And that is the surprise that many a serviceman is getting when he returns home from war, and it is knocking him groggy. He can't understand what has happened to his Bossy that has made her so different from the woman he left behind him. He knows that the experiences that he has been through have changed him in a thousand different ways, but he expected her not to be altered in a single particular. He thought she would always be Bossy.

MANY WOMEN STILL STATIC

Of course, in many cases this is true. There are many women who are static. From the cradle to the grave they never have a new idea, or acquire a fresh habit, or change their opinions, but thousands of other women are as malleable as dough and circumstances knead them into new patterns.

And this is what has happened to so many war wives. For the first time in their lives they got their first draught of freedom and it has gone to their heads and intoxicated them. They had always been under mother's and father's thumb until they got married and then their husbands took over. Their husbands were the heads of the house to whom they had to report their outgoings and their incomings. They had to ask permission to take a little trip, or to join a club.

Most of them never had the handling of any money. Many never had a penny they could call their own, even when they had charge accounts at the best stores. They cooked what their husbands liked to eat and, unless they were scrappers, learned to walk warily around the subjects on which they disagreed with their lords and masters.

And the ladies loved their emancipation. They loved being free to come and go as they pleased; of not having to account to anybody for what they did, or tell what they did with their money; of not having to cook a meal if they didn't feel like it, or listen to any criticism of their new hats.

Now tsat Johnny has come back from the war they are finding it hard to put their necks back in the yoke. They still want to be free as no wife can be free. They still want to be she-who-must-be-obeyed. They still want it to be my house, my car, and, though they may not realize it, they want their husbands to be subservient to them and let them decide where they shall live, and what occupations their husbands shall folow.

Much has been said about the difficulty of the returning soldier to adjust himself to civilian life. It is going to be equally hard for the women who stayed at home to go back to being just wives. It will take patience and wisdom and love to do it, but unless they do, the war will have been in vain, for we will have lost our country if we have broken up our homes.

Share With the Hungry — When you use "Canada Approved" or whole grain bread and flour you are helping to release more wheat for hungry people, and at the same time you are getting greater nutritional value for your money. Whole grain and "Canada Approved" flour are so called "longer extraction" flours that is, a larger proportion of the wheat grain goes into their making.

Primer for Brides—Adorn, but do not conceal; the wedding gown, is the rule for 1946 bride's bouquets, and a new idea carrying out this principle is the crescent-shape bouquet. Well-balanced and easy to carry, there is an absence of ribbon streamers; just small loops at the centre, enough to cover the bride's hands.

Material Scarcity For Bridal Finery

TORONTO (CP)—Any bride-to-be who plans her wedding for the fall should start right now thinking about her dress, according to one wholesale formal dress manufacturer.

Perhaps six out of 10 Canadian brides who want to be married in satin within the next six months will have their wishes fulfilled, but in the United States, where designers are putting their all into trains, the number is less than one bride in 10.

A shortage of fabrics has set the style for wedding gowns in Canada and thrifty designers decree that if the bride wears the traditional white satin she must forfeit her right to a bridal train. A gown requires five yards of material and they claim that the more than two yards which usually goes into a train can quite easily be used in another dress.

In the United States the fact that available materials are too costly for the manufacturers to conform to ceiling prices on their cheaper ensembles has caused the medium-priced wedding dress to disappear. Girls come from many parts of the U.S. to Canada in hopes of finding a wedding dress.

Popular bridal gown fabrics have been satin, marquisette, chiffon most sought after for bridesmaids' costumes. Again the postwar splurge in formal weddings has become another reason for the current shortage of materials.

Women Dislike Working Under Women Bosses

Why are women bosses unpopular with their female workers? Jan Spiers says: "The woman who achieves the position of leadership has done so at considerable cost to herself. She has either sacrificed those things dearest to a woman's heart—a home, love, husband and children—or lived for her job while she filled her leisure hours with the dreary substitutions that bachelor girls evolve." Whatever plan the female boss follows she is leading an unnatural life and therefore cannot be an efficient manager.

The article, entitled "Make My Boss a Man," gives you the complete picture of why women should not hold responsible positions. This article is now appearing in the July edition of Cosmopolitan Magazine, on sale today at your magazine dealers.

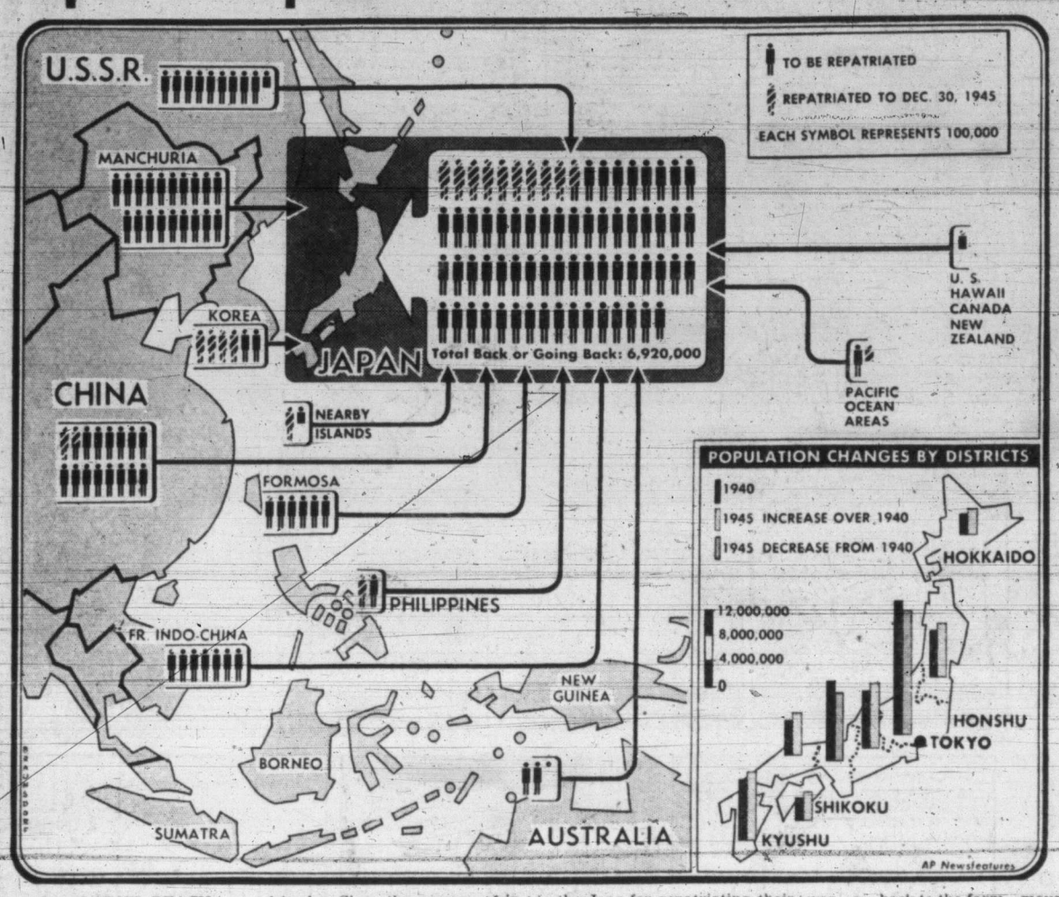
Japan's Displaced Persons Wait To Go Home



By CLARKE BEACH

It will be many a year before Japan's displaced persons are settled back in the homes from which the war jarred them loose.

Unlike in Germany, where the bulk of the displaced populations comprises forced labor, most of Japan's "D.P's" are the 9,200,000 city dwellers who migrated to rural areas.

The six great industrial centres on Honshu, the main island, lost from 20 to 60 per cent of their population.

Tokyo's population dropped from 6,790,000 to 2,780,000, according to a hitherto unpublicized report of General Headquarters of the Supreme Commander of the Allied Powers (S.C.A.P.). Osaka had 3,250,000 souls in 1940, and now she has 1,100,000. Nagoya, Kyoto, Yokohama and Kobe met the same fate.

The refugees are jammed now into the rural areas, chiefly on Honshu, which were already overcrowded. Most of them are settled among relatives and friends. Since the process of industrialization in Japan has not been going on for much more than 30 years, the city people have their roots in the country.

But now they are trying hard to get back to the big cities, and the government has had to pass laws to keep 'em down on the farm. There is room for very few in the bombed and gutted cities, and Japanese officials expect it will be 10 years before they can all return. They are not given travel permits and transportation to enter cities of more than 100,000 unless they are considered essential city workers.

This is only one phase of the D.P. problem of the occupying forces in Tokyo. Altogether there are more than 12,000,000 displaced persons in Japan, according to the State Department. In addition, at the war's end S.C.A.P. reported there were 6,922,522 Japanese civilians and soldiers outside of Japan who probably would have to be repatriated. Now tens of thousands are being returned monthly on the 209 vessels which the United States made available to the Japs for repatriating their nationals.

The bulk of these repatriates are in Manchuria, China and the Soviet Union. But millions more are in Malaya, the Southwest Pacific, the Pacific Ocean area, the Philippines, Korea and so forth.

Outward bound from Japan, says the State Department, are nearly 3,000,000 Koreans, Formosans, Chinese and Rykyuans. Most of these are Koreans. To meet the labor shortage the Japanese government had enticed or forced most of these people to settle in Japan during the war years.

Many of the Koreans were brought in en masse, mainly to work in the mines. The Jap government once reported that 30 per cent of all her coal miners were Koreans. Koreans were among the first to seek repatriation when the war was over.

The exodus of Japanese from the big cities was not entirely on account of the bombing. The government began to decentralize industry in 1938, and before the war a back-to-the-farm movement was started. The government pressed this farm movement to the limit when farm workers were urgently needed toward the end of the war.

Evacuation projects were begun before the large bombing raids commenced. Children, pregnant women and old persons were urged to join relatives and friends in the country. The move met much opposition, however, because of the peculiar strength of family ties in Japan.

After the bombings began, the rush to leave the cities became frantic and pellmell. People even poured out of the unbombed cities and dwellers in small towns fled to the hills. In June, 1945, the government issued a regulation forbidding further flights from the coastal areas and small communities.

In almost deserted Tokyo in January, 1945, landlords offered rooms and houses free, just to obtain occupants. Some home owners even offered a monthly stipend to any person who would live on their property.

250 Fruit Pickers Needed Next Week

About 250 additional fruit pickers will be required to help harvest the large loganberry crop in Saanich next week, District Supervisor C. M. Smith, Farm Labor Service, said today.

More than 300 workers already have been placed this season by his office to pick strawberries, raspberries and black currants. Cherries will be coming in about the same time as the logans. Due to the prolific crop and increased wages paid by growers this year, pickers should earn really good money, he said.

Several growers have complained that some parents have been in the habit of taking young children with them to the fruit farms, Mr. Smith stated. "This is not allowed," he said, "as considerable damage can be caused by these children to the berry patches, and accommodation on buses is very limited."

He asked growers to apply for help at least 24 hours before it is needed, and pickers without phones to report to his office at 604 Broughton Street during the week.

"Dairy farm help on the island is still a serious problem," he said. "Experienced dairy men are scarce, and unfortunately few farmers have accommodation for married couples. Haying in this district is now in full swing, but uncertain weather has somewhat retarded operations."

Aftermath Of The Bomb

Expect Report On Plans To Develop Columbia

SEATTLE (AP) — Canadian plans for development of the upper part of the Columbia River basin are expected to be laid before the International Columbia River Engineering Board in a meeting at Banff next week.

Col. L. H. Hewitt, Seattle district engineer, and R. F. Bracelin, assistant chief of the engineering division of the Seattle Engineer District, will report on Columbia River studies of the district.

Concerts Next Week For Summer School

Four concerts of note will be given next week at the morning musical sessions at the Summer School of Education, being held at Victoria High School.

Monday excerpts from Tschaikowsky's opera "The Queen of Spades" will be presented in the form of a lecture recital. Taking part in the performance will be Mrs. Louise Van Ogle, professor of music at the University of Washington; Mrs. Florence Wilson, soprano; and Mrs. Irene Bostwick.

Tuesday, motion pictures will be shown, and Wednesday the concerts will be resumed with the appearance of Sue Wootten, an American pianist.

Thursday, Frankie Fambro, Negro soprano, will be featured in a program consisting largely of Negro spirituals.

Friday, Selma Reyes, local violinist, will present a program.

The regular dance will be held Friday evening and a special square dance will be held Wednesday evening.

Gwendoline Harper brought to a close Friday the first week of morning musicales with a recital which was highlighted by Beethoven's Sonata, Opus 27, No. 1.

The pianist showed excellent technique in her well-balanced program which also featured Faure's "Impromtu in F Minor," and two Debussy numbers, "Masques" and "Jardins Sous La Pluie."

Contemporary Art Will Be Exhibited

A National Gallery loan collection of contemporary Canadian artists' work will be on show at the Little Centre, 965 Yates Street, from July 9 to the end of the month.

The pictures, according to Mark H. Kearley, chairman of the Vancouver Island Region of the Federation of Canadian Artists, "are the property of the people of Canada, and they represent a cross section of the work the artists of this country have done in our time."

Among the artists who will be represented are many who are well known, including A. Y. Jackson, whose picture, "Quebec Barn," will be shown, and Arthur Lismer — one of whose motifs from Georgian Bay will be displayed.

The exhibits will also include the work of younger Canadian artists including Carl Schaefer, Charles Comfort and Pegi Nicol, all of whom were commissioned by the Dominion government as war artists in the Second Great War.

Trammen Satisfied With Negotiations

George Morrison, business agent for the Street Railwaymen's Union (A.F.L.), said Friday night the union was reasonably satisfied with results obtained through current negotiations with the B.C. Electric Railway Company.

He added a final report on the negotiations would be given at a special membership meeting next Wednesday. Mr. Morrison declined to reveal the terms of the company's proposals, but it is known the union has demanded a three-cents-an-hour wage increase after adjustment of wage rates to maintain take-home pay on a union-proposed reduction of weekly working hours from 48 to 40.

Jury Names Woman As Man's Slayer

WINNIPEG (CP)—A coroner's jury Friday night named Mrs. Inez Lungren, 52, as the slayer of Joseph Leslie O'Connel, 28, shot to death in her home in suburban St. Vital June 24. Mrs. Lungren, who did not attend the inquest, was quoted in a statement read to the jury as saying that O'Connel had "grabbed" her, but that she got away from him and went to her room for a gun. As he came up the stairs toward her, she "let him have it."

The verdict was reached in 20 minutes after testimony from 11 witnesses.

Athletics Beaten 1-0, Oliver Drops Toughie

Doug Oliver, slender right-hand pitcher recently obtained from Oakland, made his first start for Victoria Athletics in the Western International League at Bremerton last night, and dropped a 1 to 0 heart-breaker to the Bluejackets. Oliver gave up only three hits and the winning run in the eighth came as the result of an error.

Making his return to the game after suffering a broken finger while with Spokane earlier in the season, Oliver turned in a performance that would win the majority of games. However, Bremerton, gave up only two Hub Kittle, on the mound for hits. In his last 17 innings Kittle has given up a lone run.

Bremerton's lone tally resulted when first baseman Bill Reese doubled, went to third on an outfield out and raced home when outfielder Eddie Murphy's throw to third was wild. Murphy picked up the only two hits off Kittle.

SALEM MOVES UP

Salem's Senators were within two percentage points of the league-leading Wenatchee Chiefs following their 7 to 4 win over the pace-setters. The Senators slugged two Chief hurlers for 12 hits including a three-run home run by Woody Salmon, his second in two days. The circuit wallop put Salmon's runs-batted-in total at eight for two games.

Seventeen-year-old Richie Colombo twirled four-hit ball and his Tacoma mates hammered out 13 blows, including a pair of homers, as the Tigers scored a 6 to 1 victory over Vancouver.

A 15-hit barrage by Yakima Stars blanked the improvised Spokane Indians 10 to 0.

The Stars connected for 11 hits and nine runs off Al Raimondi in the first five innings and got four more hits and another run off Wally Mehrens to take their third straight victory since the Indians resumed baseball after losing most of the team in a bus crash.

Motorcycle Club Resumes Operations On Prewar Basis

Victoria Motorcycle Club, which was given special tribute for its fine showing in executing intricate manoeuvres at the head of the Vancouver Jubilee celebrations parade through the city streets on Dominion Day, is back into almost full peacetime operation again and, according to officials today, several attractions of interest have been lined up for the remainder of the year.

At Nanaimo, on July 20, the iron-steed riders of the local club will put on a highly-entertaining motorcycle rodeo and plans are shaping up for T-T races to be staged in the centre of the Langford Speedway oval in the near future. The grounds are being prepared for these shows, which test a rider's skill to the limit, but dates have not been set as yet.

The prewar thrilling spectacle, the hill climb, which drew thousands to Mount Douglas, will be run this year, officials report. It will take place at the mountain on Thanksgiving Day.

Angling

By 'CAP' THORSEN

For a couple of days earlier in the week catches were so scarce in Saanich Inlet waters the professnional guides were worried that the derbyists last Sunday cleaned the inlet of its salmon population.

But reports yesterday afternoon from around the circuit indicated improvement during the last three days—along with the news that a fair run of coho and blueback salmon has arrived. Generally speaking, however, no catches of a spectacular nature were taken since Sunday.

Indications point to another huge turnout for tomorrow's Solarium derby sponsored by the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association and the Chinook Club, which is open to the public. Starting time is 6 in the morning, boats lining up for the go-ahead "green light" signal in the form of rifle shot and bomb.

Biggest fish caught during the week, as reported to this column was a 23½-pound specimen Thursday. It was taken by William Rowland, who was accompanied by Don McLean, in the waters around the Goldstream Island. A. R. Bader, using a No. 6 Gibbs-Stewart spoon Wednesday in Deep Hole waters landed a 22-pounder. George Rippingale reeled in a 15-pounder Tuesday on a Lucky Louie plug.

Fishing Indian Bay, opposite Senainus Island, midweek E. Chandler landed a 20½-pounder on a No. 6 Wonder 50-50 spoon. He was out with Roy Smith, who with the same lure, caught salmon weighing 20½, 12 and 15 pounds. Charles Lohr on Wednesday bagged a basket of five silvers going from 12 to 18 pounds from Whittaker's Point to McKenzie Bay. In addition to those listed here there were a fair number of the smaller variety of fish taken, the boathouses reported.

BREVITIES

Another ardent fly fisherman recently took the trip down the "centre-aisle" to cancel his address in Batchelor Row. He is Joe Jewkes, rated in class A in fly fishing ranks, who was given a rousing sendoff by members of the "Ananias Club" in the rear of Roger Monteith's store. His pal, George Ruck, in handling the speech task at the reception, was willing to offer odds that there would soon be another addition to the fishing ranks in the person of Mrs. Jewkes, the former Phyllis Sheret. . . . Florence and Elk Lakes are recommended for a fair brand of small-mouth bass fishing.

Colorful Highland Games At Macdonald Park July 27

A page out of the books that depict old Scotland will be the scene presented at Macdonald Park Saturday, July 27, when the Victoria Highland Games Association stages its day of games in the enclosure embracing track and field competitions and highland bag-pipe and dancing contests.

This will be the ninth annual staging of the colorful day-long scene and the association executive has lined up a fine program covering a wide range of events, opening at 9 in the morning.

There will be dancing for both amateurs and professionals, pipe band and individual piping competitions. A full program of track and field calls for the 100-yard dash as the starting event. There will be broad and high jumping, pole vaulting, hurdles and the heavier events of throwing the hammer, tossing the cabre, discus throwing and the tug-of-war.

During the last few years the highland show has established itself prominently in the local athletic picture. Competition this year is expected to be a great deal keener than it was during the war years "and we are confident this will be the most successful games program we have ever staged," says the president, J. A. Dewar. The sharper competition is anticipated due to the flow-back of servicemen and women who are well up in the athletic, piping and dancing fields.

Track and field events will get under way at 2 in the afternoon. Further information can be obtained from Jock Mackay at E 8138.

Frenchman Wins Diamond Sculls

HENLEY, Eng. (CP) — Jean Sephariades of France today defeated John B. Kelly Jr., Philadelphia, by three lengths in the finals of the Diamond Sculls in the first full postwar Henley regatta.

Sephariades' time was 8 minutes 21 seconds for the one-mile, 555-yard course.

Earlier Britain's oldest private rowing club, the Leander Club, won the Grand Challenge Cup for eight-oared shells, defeating the See-See Club of Zurich, Switzerland, by three-quarters of a length.

Crown City Tennis Champions Today

City tennis champions were being crowned today on the courts of the Victoria Club. In the women's singles Jill Milledge opposed Ruth Sherman while Carl Brand and Hank Bennett battled for the men's title.

V.M.D. Beats Navy In Local Baseball

Playing before only a few fans league-leading V.M.D. defeated the Navy 6 to 3 in last night's city league ball game. The clubs came up with a spotty exhibition, splitting 12 errors.

Jimmy Morrison handled the pitching chores for the V.M.D. allowing five hits, the same number the shipyarders picked off Jimmy Dumeah.

Four runs in the eighth inning on two hits and a pair of errors provided the V.M.D. with their margin of victory.

Short score follows:

	R.	H.	E.
V.M.D.	6	5	6
Navy	3	5	6

Batteries: Morrison and Sutherland, Dumeah and Smith.

Pauline Betz New Wimbledon Champion

WIMBLEDON (AP)—Pauline Betz of Los Angeles won the women's singles title, beating Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-2, 6-4, today in the final of the Wimbledon championships.

Jack Kramer and Tom Brown gave the United States its second championship when they mowed down the two Australians, Dinny Pails and Geoff Brown, 6-4, 6-4, 6-2, in the finals of men's doubles.

Salmon, Jubb Crowned Canadian Champions

By ARCHIE McKINNON
Y.M.C.A. Swim Coach

HAMILTON—Victoria's Flying "Y" swim stars got away to a grand start in the Canadian championships here last night with Eric Jubb and Peter Salmon capturing titles. In addition, Salmon shattered a Canadian record.

Things went according to schedule and very much as I expected. Jubb was the first Victorian to swim. He lined up with six others and took the lead like a champion. Eric paced the field all the way and there was open water between the second man, Mingie of Montreal. Jubb's time of one minute eight seconds for the 100 yards junior backstroke is the fastest performance that a Victoria boy has ever turned in. He is only 15 and should break the Canadian record next year. He has taken over the title that Dick Bowden of Victoria held for two years.

Peter Salmon's win in the 100-yard junior breaststroke was similar. He led all the way with teammate Jubb trying hard the entire route to finish second. Salmon's time of 1.08.6 bettered the previous mark of 1.09.4 set by Jack Pomfret of Vancouver. Salmon's time really surprised the Ontario officials.

The boys have really worked hard and their showing should please the folks at home.

Last night's show was a good one but the crowd was poor.

Irene Strong of Vancouver scored a double triumph in the women's events, taking the 200 yards freestyle and 200 yards breast stroke.

Audrey Jones of Vancouver captured the women's three-metre diving.

INDIANS VICTORS

Craigflower Indians senior B team defeated Langford 7 to 6 in a Colwood and District Fastball League game. On Sunday at 7 in the evening Langford will meet Sooke at Sooke.

Detroit In Comeback

Steve O'Neill's battered and bruised Detroit Tigers, all but counted out of the American League pennant race, were back on their feet today ready to resume their quest for their second straight flag.

Handicapped by injuries to their star players which at various times forced them to play without the services of outfielders Dick Wakefield and Hoot Evers, second baseman Eddie Mayo, catcher Paul Richards and pitchers Dizzy Trout and Stubby Overmore, the Tigers have been hovering around the .500 mark practically since the start of the season.

But during the past week, the third place Tigers, with true championship spirit, have come back to win six of their last eight games to cut 2½ games off the Boston Red Sox awesome lead and now trail by 11 games.

The Tigers moved up to within 3½ games of second place yesterday by whipping Cleveland Indians 7 to 5 in a twilight tussle. Roy Cullenbine continued his terrific slugging since his return to the regular line-up 10 days ago. He smashed a pair of homers against his former teammates to lead the Tigers' attack.

The Red Sox increased their margin to 7½ games over the runner-up New York Yankees, coming from behind to defeat the Philadelphia Athletics 5 to 2 with a four-run rally in the eighth.

DODGERS BEATEN

Another to gain revenge on his former mates was Goody Rosen, who was sold by Brooklyn Dodgers to New York Giants earlier this season. Rosen singled in the ninth to score Johnny Mize with the run that gave the Giants a 7 to 6 victory over the Brooks. The Dodgers' margin was narrowed to six games over the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals, who shaded Chicago Cubs 1 to 0.

Cincinnati's Bucky Walters, outlasted Pittsburgh Pirates 4 to 3 to dump the Bucs into the National League cellar behind the Giants.

Washington's Bucky Newsome, presented with a six-run second inning lead, coasted to a 6 to 1 triumph over the Yankees.

Cliff Fannin, making his first major league start, turned in a splendid shutout achievement as he pitched St. Louis Browns to a 1 to 0 decision over Chicago White Sox.

Hopes To Fly Plane 1,500 Miles An Hour

Explode, do not walk, to the nearest exit, air force soldier sits in "pilot ejection seat" with hand on trigger that fires gun shooting him up 60 feet a second for quick exist from disabled high-speed plane. Three seconds after exit, container shown below soldier's arm explodes to automatically release the seat.

Jack Woolmans: Like the stork, he's an old hand at flying "firsts."

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WRIGHT FIELD, Ohio—When test pilot Jack Woolams climbs into the Army Air Force's first supersonic plane, the Bell Aircraft XS-1, and attempts to fly 1,500 miles per hour, he will be protected by almost every safety device known to aviation.

If the plane becomes disabled he will be automatically hurled away from it along with part of the cabin. At the proper altitude

. . . but don't reach for the rip-cord. That's automatic, too, taken care of by the aneroid parachute release pictured on the dummy model above. For high-speed, high-altitude safety, it permits user to fall free to safe altitude after explosive exit from plane. At pre-set altitude, barometric pressure pulls the string and opens umbrella like the one at right.

he will be freed from the cabin, and when he reaches that altitude his parachute will automatically open. All the pilot has to do is squeeze a trigger, setting off a chain of small explosions which do the rest. The parachute is opened by a barometer fastened to the rip cord; the change in air pressure during the rapid fall causes the barometer to trip the release.

To avoid injury from shock of an opening chute, a new type of parachute has been developed. It has very flexible cords holding the man using it and it is made out of many ribbons of silk which don't open with such a snap.

These items and other revolutionary advances in aviation were revealed to the public for the first time at the Army Air Force Materiel Centre here.

Jack Woolans, 29, father of three children, is the chief test pilot for Bell Aircraft Corporation. It is planned that he will make the attempt to fly the XS-1 faster than sound, scheduled soon.

The cockpit will be pressurized and the pilot will breathe pure oxygen. He will wear a pressure suit and probably a gold-fish-bowl pressure helmet.

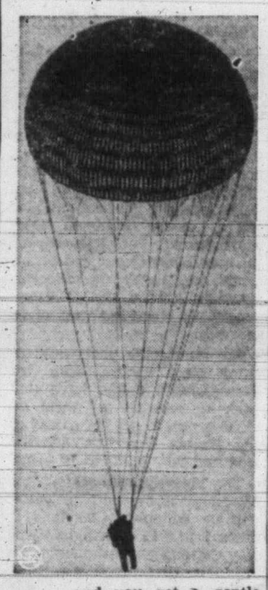
DESIGN SECRET

The XS-1 will be powered with a rocket motor when it makes the historic attempt to fly faster than sound. For security reasons the air force is keeping secret most of the details of its design. No picture of it are being permitted for public display. A clue to its design, however, is given in the unofficial nickname for it. Among the men who are working on the XS-1 it is known as the "Flying Swordfish."

Woolams has tested it in glides. At 13,000 feet and an air speed of 350 miles per hour, its ultra-thin wing and tail surfaces and its clean design handled beautifully, showing no vibration or noise; he says it is "solid as a rock."

It is not a military aircraft, the Army claims. It will be more of a flying laboratory to probe the mystery of speed faster than sound. Here is the Air Force description of one of the basic problems involved in supersonic speeds which, it is hoped, the XS-1 will solve:

"At speeds below the speed of sound, the air flows smoothly over and under the control surfaces of an aircraft in much the same pattern as slowly moving water around a bridge pillar in mid-stream. But, as the aircraft approaches the speed of sound the air-flow pattern begins to resemble the pattern of swiftly moving water around the bridge pillar. It piles up in front, becomes extremely turbulent and instead of flowing smoothly around the aircraft, begins to batter it to pieces.



. . . and you get a gentle come-down. This is the ribbon parachute, its canopy composed of a lattice work which eliminates terrific shock experienced by pilots jumping at extreme altitudes and speeds. Design provides slow, steady de-acceleration, eliminates almost all oscillation.

"Scientists working with a conventionally designed model in a conventional wind tunnel found that when the speed approaches that of sound the air reaction blocked the tunnel and no amount of power could force air around the model and through the tunnel. They also discovered that the turbulent air erratically increased, decreased, or even reversed normal lifts and pressures on the wing and control surfaces."

WILL FLY HIGH

Because drag at a given speed decreases as altitude increases, the XS-1 will be flown extremely high. It is probable that altitudes around 60,000 feet, where drag is about one-fourteenth as much as at sea level, will be used for the tests.

But if the plane reaches an altitude of 80,000 feet, the outside temperature will be 67 degrees below zero. The pilot, however, will not need any cabin heat. Friction of the plane through the air will cause all the heat necessary at supersonic speed.

In the first test the XS-1 will only be pushed to supersonic speed for a few minutes.

WOOLAMS' FIRSTS

"Firsts" in aviation are nothing new to Jack Woolams. At the start of the war he was an army test pilot. He flew for the first time many of the army's fighter planes. The chances are that he has already flown faster than any human testing planes in dives. He set a world's altitude record during the war—since bettered—which because of secrecy at the time couldn't be revealed.

In addition to setting a new speed record, Woolams' tests will attempt to explain the great scientific mystery which surrounds the effect of the air on a plane which travels faster than sound—supersonic speed. U.S. aviation experts admit that America doesn't have the wind tunnel facilities to make adequate laboratory tests of supersonic speeds on various kinds of surfaces.

A tremendous curiosity of what it will be like to fly at a supersonic speed spurred Woolams into volunteering to fly the XS-1.

BAILED OUT TWICE

Brushes with death as a test pilot are nothing new to Woolams. He has had to bail out of planes twice when something went wrong with them. The narrowest squeak he has ever had was when he was putting a P-59 through a series of tests. Something happened to a wing and he figured it was about time to hit the silk. As he was going out something on the plane hit his head and knocked him out. For a few seconds his chute failed to open. When it did, it was with such a snap that his boots were knocked off. He landed half unconscious in a snowdrift. By the time he was able to stagger up and get help both his feet were badly frost-bitten. For a time doctors thought they would have to amputate one of them, but finally managed to save it. He recovered rapidly and went right back to testing planes.

Purchase Of Army Camp For $70,000 Favored By Voters

PORT ALBERNI—Ratepayers here approved Port Alberni acquiring by purchase the Alberni Military Camp for a sum totalling $70,000, by a vote of three to one.

Proposal to acquire the 225 acres and buildings thereon, with the exception of the army drill hall and several adjoining huts which have been turned over to the reserve army for its use, was favored by the city council.

Two hundred veterans' families who are living in hutments in the area as an emergency measure, will not be affected by the vote.

The city was given first option on purchase of the camp, which was originally constructed to house 7,000 or more soldiers, when it was turned over to War Assets Corporation for disposal. A number of construction companies were reported interested in purchase of the property.

Log Price Boosted $5 Per Thousand

Log prices have increased by an average of $4 and $5 per thousand board feet in the past month, according to H. S. Irwin, chairman of the British Columbia Loggers' Associaion.

Mr. Irwin said that in some high grades of B.C. fir the increases have gone to "possibly" $6 a thousand. Lumber manufacturers must pay these higher prices for logs bought on the open market.

It is the second time log prices have been boosted since November 17 when average increases of $2 a thousand were made effective, following lifting of the federal price ceiling on logs, Mr. Irwin disclosed.

He said the reasons for the upward trend were increased wages and shorter working hours in the logging industry (International Woodworkers of America Union got a 15-cent hourly wage increase, and 44-hour week, out of its recent strike); increased royalties, and increased towing rates, which have developed since last November.

The new log prices are important features in the lumber manufacturers' current attempts in Ottawa to arrive at a lumber price structure which will enable them to produce more lumber for Canaidan consumption without operating at a loss.

Even before logs prices made their latest jump, lumber manufacturers claimed they were losing money producing for the domestic market under present ceilings and had to make up for losses on the export market.

Word Expected Soon On Transit Tenders

Word is expected by the middle of next week from the Department of Municipal Affairs on the draft specifications for the unified transportation system for Greater Victoria, Ald. H. M. Diggon, chairman of the Greater Victoria transportation committee, said today.

He and E. S. Farr, transportation consultant, submitted the draft to B. C. Bracewell, deputy minister, this week and Mr. Bracewell has promised to check it and see if it would receive provincial government approval if granted in its present form, Ald. Diggon said.

Whether public ownership of the transit system is practical will be decided by the committee before any tenders are called, he said, and the report from the engineer who has been working on the matter is expected within the next two weeks.

This will in no way hold up or delay further the call for tenders, Ald. Diggon said.

Baby With 2 Faces Dies Soon After Birth

TOKYO (AP) — The Kyodo news agency reported today the birth and death of a girl baby with two faces and two bodies joined above the hips and with with four legs. Both the mother and father, Nagano prefecture farmers, are normal persons, the news agency said. It reported the birth was the second of its type known, the first having been recorded in Germany.

Kyodo said the child, which had a single head with two faces, was born alive but died immediately afterward.

The agency quoted physicians as believing "the freak offspring resulted from malnutrition and shock experienced by the mother, who normally would have borne twins."

Tuna Fleet Here Tied Up By Demands Of Fishermen

Tuna boats here and in Vancouver are tied up today with the demand by union fishermen for 75 per cent of the net stock of tuna vessels fishing out of B.C. this year, E. Neish, president of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union, Victoria local, reported today.

Mr. Neish estimated nine Victoria tuna boats would be affected, while Vancouver is expected to be hit with a tie-up of approximately 100 vessels. Prince Rupert tuna vessels will also be affected. The union demands affect boats with crew of three or more.

Last year union fishermen were working aboard tuna vessels under a tentative agreement giving owners 32 per cent. They are willing to sign a temporary agreement this year giving the boat operators 25 per cent of the net stock.

Union fishermen will fish under this agreement on condition there will be arbitration next year on the difference between 25 per cent of the net stock and 20 per cent of the gross stock for the owner.

At present there are few tuna vesels, including Victoria and Vancouver craft, out fishing but they will be tied up here when they return from the grounds.

As things stand now, Mr. Neish said, no union fisherman will work any of the tuna vessels or go tuna fishing until the agreement is signed.

Operators and vessel owners are meeting later today to discuss the negotiations between the union and the Vancouver Vessel Owners' Association.

Local Man Heads B.C. Fire Fighters

J. Lusse, of the city fire department, has been re-elected president of the B.C. Association of Fire Fighters, it was learned today on the return of delegates from the association convention in New Westminster.

L. Wishart of New Westminster, was elected vice-president, and M. O. Howell, Vancouver, secretary-treasurer.

The convention approved the proposal of municipalities that fire insurance companies contribute toward the cost of fire protection. Also delegates opposed any relaxation of price control, and will ask that the widows' pension under the Compensation Act be raised.

Earl Brower, Everett, Wash., vice-president of the International Association of Fire Fighters, said the firemen of Washington heartily endorsed the 48-hour week law passed in B.C. as a means of providing more employment and improving the efficiency of fire departments. Other addresses were given by Alderman R. Gervin, secretary of the Vancouver and District Trades and Labor Council, and W. Black, president of the joint council of public employees.

11 Forest Fires Raging In B.C.

Eleven forest fires are raging in British Columbia today, the B.C. Forest Service reported, as costs of fighting fires so far this year continue well in advance of similar costs to date in 1945 and 1944.

Seven fires were still burning when the week started. Sixteen occurred during the week and 12 were extinguished.

To date this year 131 forest fires have broke out in forests of the Vancouver forest district which includes all Vancouver Island. Cost of fighting them has been $2,109 compared with $1,360 at this time last year.

To date this year throughout the province 471 forest fires have occurred and fighting them has cost $25,477. This total compares with 376 fires which cost $9,449 at this time in 1944 and 603 which cost $23,996 in 1944.

Only one of the five forest districts reporting a hazard during the week was Fort George where 89 fires have occurred to date this year. Fighting them has cost $12,500. At this time last year forest fire fighting in this district had cost $5,540.

Picture Presented To 10,000th Visitor

Victor A. Magnin, Los Angeles, Friday received from Williard Ireland, provincial archivist, a framed picture of the stately old Helmcken House, a gift presented to the 10,000th visitor to the historic home.

Built in 1852, Helmcken House was taken over by the province as a historic site in 1939. It was returned as far as possible to the condition when it was occupied by the late Dr. J. F. Helmcken, physician and speaker of the Legislature in colonial days. The site was first opened to tourists in 1941. Since that time 10,000 persons have signed the registrar there.

Mrs. H. Webster, curator, reported 1,000 persons have visited the site this year.

All Drivers Urged To See Traffic Film

All persons who drive automobiles should be required to see moving pictures on traffic safety, C. J. Harrington, president of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, told a meeting of the general membership at Douglas Hotel Friday evening.

Highway traffic accidents accounted for more deaths than World War II, Mr. Harrington said. The junior chamber president addressed the meeting following a talk on traffic control by Constable Brooke Douglass of the city police force, and showing of a traffic safety film by C. W. Marshall.

Const. Douglass outlined the dangers of poor driving habits in the city and on B.C. highways. The rising death toll from highway accidents was becoming a serious problem, he said.

The junior chamber passed a resolution of thanks to the City Council for financial support given for organization of May 24 celebrations in Victoria. Thanks to all other organizations taking part in the celebrations was expressed by M. F. Hunter, chairman of the May 24 celebration committee.

A report on the recent junior chamber regional conference held at Prince George was submitted by Norman Parkins, delegate for the Victoria junior chamber. The local junior chamber's resolutions put before the conference were among those accepted, Mr. Parkins said.

The group, half of which will come one day and half the other, will include Parry Barnes, Illustrious Potentate of the Ararat Temple; Frank S. Land, Past Potentate of Ararat Temple and founder of the Imperial Line of the Shrine, and George M. Saunders, Recorder of Ararat, who will be elected to the office of President of the Recorders' Association of North America.

President Harry S. Truman is a member of the Ararat Temple and is expected to attend the Imperial Session at San Francisco.

New Businesses Jump 50 Per Cent

New business in Victoria jumped 50 per cent over last year's total for the first six months of the year, the building licenses department at the City Hall stated today.

In the main the businesses are small, many of them home occupations, and veterans form the larger proportion of the applicants for new business licenses.

During the first six months of 1946 a total of 5,719 bicycle licenses were issued and applications are still coming in at the rate of 8 to 10 a day.

To date just over 2,000 dog licenses have been issued, a slight increase over last year. The license department warned more prosecutions would be forthcoming if citizens did not get tags for their dogs.

The district Lions convention in Seattle last week was outlined by Ernest H. Emery, immediate past-president.

Town Topics

A 50 per cent decline in the number of veterans seeking applications for new business licenses has been noted since May, C. H. Booth, local representative of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, said today.

Annual picnic and sports day for former residents of Alberta will be held July 17 at Beacon Hill Park picnic grounds. The picnic will feature races for old and young, separate booths for registration and several speakers from Alberta.

School children in Greater Victoria contributed 1,600 pounds of pencils, rulers, unused scribblers and other school supplies for distribution to the devastated schools of Europe, J. F. K. English, municipal inspector of schools, reported today.

An executive meeting of Esquimalt Dockyard Branch, Canadian Legion, will be held Tuesday at 8. A special meeting for those interested in securing lumber for veterans' homes will be held in the branch hall, 622 Admirals Road, Tuesday at 7.45.

Fire Chief Joseph Raymond and Building Inspector J. W. Oosterink have recommended to the City Council that a building located at 1407-13 Store Street be condemned because it is in "deplorable condition." The floors have fallen in, the report stated, and people are living in the second story.

James Haslam was remanded until next Friday when he appeared in Oak Bay police court Friday afternoon on a charge of wilful misconduct causing bodily harm, which arose from an accident at the Willows "tin lizzy" derby on July 1. Mrs. Norman Collins received a fractured leg and cuts and bruises when struck by a car alleged by police to have been driven by Haslam.

Unions, Builders To Meet Next Week

A master agreement to cover all collective bargaining contracts between the Victoria Builders' Exchange and the various unions in the building trade will be discussed at a meeting Monday night, it was announced today by George Pyper.

Mr. Pyper, secretary of the Victoria local of the United Association of Journeymen Plumbers and Steamfitters (A.F.L.), also reported delegates of this union would meet with the Builders' Exchange Wednesday night to discuss a new contract. The present contract is being opened at the request of the union.

Mr. Pyper declined to disclose the demands of the various unions of the builders.

Hunter, chairman of the public works committee, said following a meeting Friday. City Council approval will also be asked on a petition from Cook Street residents for a sidewalk on the west side of the street between Pembroke and Princess.

Canada Can Hold 'Price Line' Says W.P.T.B. Official

Greater support than ever before will be given to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, should inflation go hog wild in the United States, in the opinion of C. H. Booth, local representative of the board.

Abolition of the O.P.A. in the U.S. has not made Canadians desire the lifting of W.P.T.B. ceilings, but has had the reverse effect, Mr. Booth said.

"We can hold the line of prices in Canada even if they do not in the United States," he added. "People of Canada will see the dangers of inflation."

Canadian Newsprint Mills Hard Hit By Parity Of Dollars

MONTREAL (CP) — R. M. Fowler, president of the Newsprint Association of Canada, commenting today on the adjustment of the exchange rate of the Canadian dollar to parity with the United States dollar, said the move "is very serious for Canadian newsprint mills."

Removal of the American exchange premium means a loss in return of between $6 and $7 a ton of newsprint shipped to the United States from this country, Mr. Fowler said.

(Price of Canadian newsprint sold to U.S. consumers is $67 in U.S. funds, on a laid down New York basis.

(For the first five months of this year 1,320,000 tons of Canadian newsprint were shipped to the United States. American users are expected to receive in excess of 3,000,000 tons of newsprint from Canada in 1946.)

"It is particularly unfortunate that this move comes at a time when higher costs of production had already necessitated a price advance and there was every expectation that a price increase in the United States would have been granted by the O.P.A. effective July 1 if there had not been the legislative confusion in Washington in recent weeks," Mr. Fowler said.

B.C. Farmers To Get 160 Army Trucks

Applications will be received from British Columbia bona fide farmers up to July 27 for 131 three-quarter ton and 29 three-ton surplus army trucks which will be distributed to B.C. farmers by the B.C. Federation of Agriculture working in co-operation with the War Assets Corporation and the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

C. A. Hayden, secretary of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, reported today that application forms for the trucks, which will be distributed by lot through drawings July 31 in Vancouver, are obtainable now from J. W. Carmichael, Room 1425 Marine Building, Vancouver.

These forms give detailed information as to the specifications of the 160 trucks. The application forms when completed must be forwarded to Mr. Carmichael. Even if informal applications have already been made, it is essential that farmers get the regular forms, said Mr. Hayden.

He recommended that all applicants give references or the names of farm organizations to which they belong, so that quick action may be taken when inquiries are necessary.

Building Activity Slumps In Area

Building activity in Greater Victoria slumped sharply during the past week as material shortages continue to hamper builders.

Permits to the value of only $80,296 were issued for the whole area. Victoria was in the lead with 23 permits, total value $42,444. None were for large buildings, only five of them being for dwellings, and the rest for minor repairs and alterations.

Saanich hit an all-time low in the number of building permits issued this week. Nine permits were issued for work to cost $6,725 and only two of them were for dwellings. The new houses, both four rooms, will be erected at 1065 Portage Avenue $2,500, and at 2849 Parkview Drive for $1,250.

Four permits were issued in Oak Bay for construction valued at $26,300. They were for a $4,500, five-room house at 942 Linkleas Ave.; a $7,500, seven-room house at 2099 Lansdowne Road; a $6,800, five-room house at 1944 Beach Drive, and a $7,500, seven-room house at 3002 Cadboro Bay Road.

Only one permit was issued in Esquimalt for construction of a five-room dwelling on Ellery Street, to cost $4,800.

—GIRAFFES and BUFFALOES—
(heads or tails)

FROM LONDON comes the latest in a tricky hair style, as buffaloes' tails on their own they pile. This augments milady's tresses, and looks sleeky with low-backed dresses. It is plaited and when properly done, naped to the neck in a "cottage bun." Giving the head a longer profile, a neck like a giraffe seems this style. But is quite generally approved by British males, turning their heads with buffalo tails.

ANOTHER NEW STYLE is evident in these dinette suites, a shipment of which arrived today . . . walnut finished on hardwood, and with the nicest buffet.

Slowly Overcoming Log Strike Effect

Victoria's waterfront has not yet returned to normal after the logging strike and shipping and log-towing is reported still fairly slow.

E. W. Izard, Yarrows Ltd. general manager, and D. Anderson, Victoria Machinery Depot Co., Ltd., comptroller, both reported ships coming in for repairs were still fewer in number. Cecil Ridout, manager of King Bros., Ltd., shipping agents, pointed out owners had re-routed vessels to pick up other cargoes after they heard of the lumber strike here.

Officials at the Island Tug and Barge Ltd. reported log-towing activities were just beginning to return to normal.

6,000 Feet Of Cable Completely Missing

VANCOUVER (CP)—Six thousand feet of Canadian Pacific communications cable, the section down the Alberni Inlet from Port Alberni to Bamfield, "just disappeared" in the Franklin River section of the province during the June 23 earthquake, an official said Friday night.

The cable, which was immediately replaced, was part of the direct wireless and cable route from London, Eng., to Australia and the Orient. During the war, this was the only cable communication route to the Orient.

The official said that grappling operations were useless. "We just couldn't find it," he added. "The bottom dropped out of the ocean at this point."

Start Fish Plant

Construction of the main building of the fish-processing plant of B. W. Brown and Sons Ltd. is expected to begin early next week, Clarence Brown, manager, reported today.

The new plant building will be two stories high, with the land entrance facing on to Montreal Street. Dockwork was completed some time ago.

One Woman's Day

By NANCY HODGES

LITTLE RED SCHOOLHOUSE

LIKE THE OLD GREY MARE in the song, British Columbia's little red schoolhouses "ain't what they used to be." And that in more senses than one.

In the Sessional Papers of 1881-1882, to which I referred the other day, was the anual report of the public schools, presented by Hon. W. J. Armstrong, provincial secretary.

Ten years had then elapsed since the passage of the first act establishing free education in this province.

During that period the sum of $480,395 had been expended for all purposes of education, the report noted. This included the following items:

Teachers' salaries, $337,297; incidental expenses (whatever that may mean), $28,670; rents, $2,921; salaries and expenses of Education Office, $26,765; maps, globes, books and insurance, $6,954.

ONLY 6,000 PUPILS

ACCORDING TO THE SAME SOURCE, the number of children educated during those first 10 years couldn't be accurately ascertained, but it was estimated that about 6,000 had passed through B.C. schools during that time—including those then attending.

For 1883, the estimates made provision for the salaries of 64 teachers, for incidental expenses to the tune of $3,555; buildings and repairs, $6,750, and salaries and expenses of the Education Office, $2,980.

It is a far cry from those modest estimates and expenditures to the present day costs of free education in British Columbia!

At the last session, for instance, we passed estimates totaling $5,297,264, of which $437,345 were for expenses and salaries of the various departments which now constitute the Education Office.

RUNS INTO MILLIONS

TEACHERS' SALARIES, and special grants for the same, today total roughly $3,500,000.

Speaking of salaries, it is interesting to read what was paid to pedagogues 64 years ago, in the light of today's pay.

The principal of the Victoria Boys' School was "passing rich" on $90 per month; his assistants received $80, $70, $60 and $50 respectively. And the number of pupils was 352.

The local girls' school had exactly the same number of pupils—352—but the headmistress was paid $80. And her assistants got $70, $60, $55 and $45.

PREJUDICE DIES HARD

THAT EARLY VICTORIAN PREJUDICE against equal pay for equal work, regardless of sex, dies hard.

A propos of this, however, I chuckled over one paragraph in the superintendent's report which read:

"The sparseness of the population and the desirability of having as many persons as are interested in education take a part in educational matters leads me to recommend that females be put on the same footing as males with respect to the persons qualified to vote for trustees or for other matters for which meetings of voters are called."

I don't know how that revolutionary suggestion fared. But I do know that it was a long time before any female was made a school trustee.

I was amused to see that the rules and regulations governing the duties of teachers were also incorporated in the sessional papers.

RULES FOR TEACHERS

HERE ARE SOME OF THEM as set out in that 1882 volume:

"To keep a Visitors' Book, which he shall ask the trustees to provide, and to allow any visitor to enter therein any remarks suggested by his visit.

"To receive visitors courteously and to afford them every information.

"To teach diligently and faithfully. To practice such discipline as may be exercised by a kind, firm and judicious parent in his family, avoiding corporal punishment except when it shall appear to him to be imperatively necessary; and then a record of the offence and the punishment shall be made in the school register for the inspection of trustees and visitors.

"No teacher shall compel the services of his pupils for his own private benefit or convenience.

"When the example of a pupil is very hurtful, and reformation appears hopeless, it shall be the duty of the teacher, with the approbation of the trustees, to expel such pupil from the school.

"It is required of every pupil that he come to school clean and tidy in his person and clothes; that he avoid idleness, profanity, falsehood, deceit and quarreling and fighting; that he be kind and courteous to his fellows; obedient to his instructors, diligent in his studies; and that he conform to the rules of the school."

SOUND FOUNDATION

AS FAR AS THE QUALITY of the education given by those bygone teachers, they concentrated on the well-grounding of the three R's into their pupils.

For the curriculum embraced only the following subjects: Deportment, reading, spelling and dictation; arithmetic, mental and written; geography and use of globes, grammar and analyses, writing, bookkeeping, history, composition, linear drawing and vocal music.

The then Superintendent of Education, C. C. McKenzie, M.A., Cantab., evidently had little use for what some people still call "frills," for he quotes these words of Edward Everett, "the eminent American orator":

"To read the English language well, to write with despatch a neat, legible hand, and be master of the four rules of arithmetic so as to dispose of at once, with accuracy, every question of figures which comes up in practice—this I call good education. And if you add the ability to write pure, grammatical English, I regard it as an excellent education. These are the tools. You can do much with them, but you are powerless without them. They are the foundation, and unless you begin with them, all your flashy attainments—a little geology, and all the other ologies and osophies—are ostentatious rubbish."

And, in my humble opinion, that still holds good today—even though our public schools curriculum has expanded in the same ratio as the buildings themselves have over the little red schoolhouse of nostalgic memory.

Just back from Seattle where he was negotiating for his minors, George Cole, secretary of the Victoria Minor Baseball Association, reports that prospects for intercity games involving local clubs and Seattle squads next month are better than a possibility.

He says that tentative dates call for the intercity fixtures to be played in Victoria during the first or second weeks of August. "We cannot give definite dates until we are sure as the availability of Athletic Park." North Shore Scores Third Straight Win

WINNIPEG (CP) — Vancouver North Shore United defeated Winnipeg United Weston 5 to 3 here Friday night to take a best-of-five exhibition soccer series three games straight. The west coast squad took the previous games 3 to 2 and 7 to 2.

Spencer of the Vancouver eleven tallied the first counter on a penalty shot after 20 minutes of fast play. Three minutes later, Whittaker dropped a long corner shot in front of the Weston net and the ball was nudged in by Philley. At the 35-minute mark Spencer took a pass from Gorrie for the third and last counter of the first half.

Whittaker, who is the top scorer of the series, put the ball past Rosen in the Weston net twice in the first 23 minutes of the second half. Bobby Hampton hooked the ball past Stan Laycock for Winnipeg's first tally. Pennington came through for the second Weston counter at 9.27 and with four minutes to go Brampton drew Laycock out of the Vancouver net for Winnipeg's final marker.

Hollywood Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ronald Colman addicts will be pleased to know he is again working after a two-year absence and assures us he won't be gone for any such length of time in the future.

I found the actor on the set of "The Late George Apley" and it was refreshing to talk to him.

The reason for his return? "George Apley is a role suited for me."

The reason for his hope to do more pictures, "With directors like Capra, Wyler and Ford and top writers back from the war, I believe better pictures will be made."

Colman, who is fuller-faced and looking more like 35 than 55, said pictures in the past few years had been aimed at certain groups, particularly the bobby-soxers.

"Hollywood can easily make quality films like 'Henry V'," he said, "but it can also make them with mass appeal."

Apparently the town's producers have this in mind, too; reports indicate they are boning up on Shakespeare.

Sonny Tufts is about to shock his fans. The smiling happy-go-lucky actor is trying his hand at playing a heel and he's enjoying it.

"I've always played a good clean kind on the screen," he said. "Now I'm afraid my fans—mostly bobby-soxers and old ladies—will leave me."

The cause of the off-beat casting is Mark Hellinger, who borrowed Sonny from Paramount for "Swell Guy."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — At 38, Robert Cummings continues his lengthy career as the screen's top juvenile.

Not that the Joplin, Mo., native is limited to playing rah-rah boys with cable-stitched sweaters and tennis racquets. He specializes in mature acting roles. But he manages to retain his youthful appearance despite his advanced age. At present in "The Chase" he is playing a United States navy veteran of 27.

"I've been playing juveniles since I started in show business in 1929," he told me, "and that hasn't always been good.

"In pictures they want an actor to be aged and worn down before they hand him meaty roles. Then they give him a toupee, some additional teeth, lift his face and fasten it with fish skin. Presto—he's a great actor." A glance at the ages of the top male stars will support this."

Bob said he had managed to overcome producers' prejudice about his youth when he played in "The Devil and Miss Jones."

"People said the love scenes would be unconvincing because I looked too young opposite Jean Arthur, even though she was about the same age. I convinced them I could do it."

A new entry has been added to the radio commentator ranks—James Roosevelt. The late President's eldest son has started on a local station five nights a week for an appliance firm. He may well branch out to a wider audience.

Adhering to a New Deal line, Jimmy has an excellent speaking voice, as polished as any actor's. He speaks a little faster than did his father, but the phrasing and words like "war" and "world" are highly reminiscent of F. D. R.

Winnipeg-born Deanna Durbin is polishing up her pipes for the first time since motherhood. She will start another picture next month. . . Paulette Goddard reports seeing Sidney Chaplin, her former stepson, while she was touring Germany.

Reject $300,000 Offer For Feller

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Pitcher Bob Feller stays with Cleveland Indians, Bill Veeck Jr., new president of the club, said Friday at his southern Arizona ranch.

"Sure we've had offers of $300,000 and more for Feller, but we aren't accepting," Veeck said in commenting on a statement by commedian Bob Hope, one of the Indians' owners, in Des Moines that he understood a $300,000 offer had been made for the star hurler.

Lawn Bowling

Dave Stewart of Victoria West captured the Greater Victoria novice singles championship by defeating his club mate, Alex Donald, 15 to 14, in a keenly-fought lawn bowling game.

Further laurels came to the west end club when Pete Johnston and Charlie Fox journeyed to Cumberland for the holiday tournament and won the doubles trophy over a large field of competitors. It is the first time the cup has come to Victoria.

Archie Gibbs Head Of Amalgamated Oak Bay Sportsmen

P. Archie Gibbs has been named president of the newly-formed Oak Bay Athletic Club, an amalgamation of the Oak Bay Wanderers' Rugby Club, the Oak Bay Cricket Club and the Oak Bay Soccer Club, which will foster and develop all branches of athletics for the young people of the district.

Other officers are: Major A. G. Dobbie, vice-president; A. Sanderson, secretary; Fred Wright, treasurer; J. C. Conway, chairman financec ommittee; Bill Gornall, chairman publicity; Alf Richards, chairman house committee; G. B. Williams, by-laws; J. A. Hobday, social; Captain E. D. Levien, membership; Campbell Forbes and Norm Stewardson, executive members.

For the present it is the purpose of the club to provide coaching and leadership for junior, intermediate and senior teams in cricket, rugby and soccer; also to provide a clubhouse or pavillion adjacent to the playing field at Oak Bay.

It is anticipated that basketball, fastball and possibly tennis will be developed once the organization of a tennis section, has been held.

The club has been assured co-operation from the Oak Bay Community Centre, and it hopes to draw the nucleus of its junior sections from the junior and senior high schools.

Canadian Junior Tennis Tournament

OTTAWA (CP)—For the first time in history, Canadian junior tennis stars will have a Dominion tournament of their own this year.

The Rideau Lawn Tennis Club, sponsoring the 1946 Canadian championships, announced today a seven-event junior tourney will be held July 5 to 18, the week before the senior championships are played.

Topping the list of contestants entered to date is Lorne Main of Vancouver's Jericho Tennis Club, one of the most promising young players developed on the coast in recent years. He holds the British Columbia and Oregon State junior titles.
